Madison, South Dakota

Casting the entire student body and faculty of 1958-59 with the setting in Central High School, the following pages unfold in picture form a three-act play which the participants will recognize as the activities and events of the 1958-59 school year. It is fitting, therefore, that it should be entitled, MEMORABLE MOMENTS AT CENTRAL HIGH.

Each school year has its own moments of joy and sorrow that can never be repeated. To each Centralite there were moments during the past year that were unforgettable.

This yearbook has been produced to enable each student to remember these events more clearly. It was with this in mind that the theme, MEMORABLE MOMENTS, was chosen.

Now to each member of the cast, we dedicate this book in memory of the part he played in this "real life drama."

One of the most important organizations in Madison Central is our school board. They hire all teachers, decide on the various improvements to be made and let contracts. In general it is their duty to see that the school runs smoothly and properly. They are establishing for us an education which will enable us to lead successful lives in our homes, community, and nation.

Inspired by You

Busily working at his desk, Mr. Thompson is writing a report on the Code of Ethics to be given at high school P. T. A. He is currently the secretary of the high school organization.

The many duties that are necessary in supervising the three city elementary schools as well as Central High makes the superintendent's job a demanding one. Mr. Thompson has filled this position capably for the past eight years; previously he was superintendent at Mt. Vernon.

For a few minutes each school morning, silence is golden in Central High as the booming voice of MR. E.A. SOUTHMAYD gives the daily bulletin over the public address system at 9:30. An algebra teacher for 13 years at Central, Mr. Southmayd now holds the position of principal. Taking a helpful but firm stand, he assists students and teachers in solving the many problems of school life.

In the midst of a busy schedule, ALICE STIERWALD takes time for a quick smile at the photographer before she opens the safe. As secretary to Mr. Thompson, Alice cares for the many activity accounts, the volumes of school correspondence, etc.

Faculty

They are the Paths

- MRS. OSBORNE has been instrumental in getting Latin established in our school again. This year she taught Latin I and II. Here undergraduate work was taken at McCormick Seminary in Chicago and she has a graduate degree from the University of Nebraska.
- As A squad basketball coach, MR. MATHISON is best known. He also teaches boys' physical education, history, and assists with the other sports. An alumnus of Central, he earned his degree at General Beadle.
- An alumnus of Central High School, MR.DOCKENDORF teaches English III and IV and advises the paper staff. He is a graduate of General Beadle.
- 4. BILL IRELAND glances up from sorting music to give the photographer a smile. A well-loved instructor who has been with us for many years, he has made the Madison band one of renown. He is a graduate of the University of South Dakota.
- MR. FINGERHUT, who is a graduate of the University of South Dakota, teaches world history here at Central. In addition, he advises all of the freshman sports.
- 6. MRS. JENSEN returned for her second year here at Central as the homemaking teacher; she also advised FHA. All of her training was taken at South Dakota State College, including her masters' degree.
- 7. MR. HILTON is the athletic director here at Central. He coaches the A squad football team and the track squad. The drivers' training classes are under his supervision, too. He is a graduate of Dakota Weslyan University.

If Any be Misled

- MR. BOGUE, who teaches Algebra II, physics and chemistry, has been at Central for two years. A graduate of General Beadle State Teachers College, he organized our radio club this year and also directs the audio-visual program.
- MISS MILLER, has been with us since her graduation from U.S.D. in 1957. She teaches the girls' physical education classes and is in charge of Tumbling Club, G.A.A. and A and B Cheerleaders. She also serves as girls' counseler.
- Our biology teacher, MR. MILLER, has served his first year with us. He is a graduate of General Beadle State Teachers College. The Civil Air Patrol is under his supervision, also.
- 4. MR. CAMPBELL came to Central this year from Garfield School. He teaches shop I, II, III, and IV, economics and world geography. The handicraft club is under his supervision. Mr. Campbell is a graduate of General Beadle State Teachers College.
- 5. A familiar face at Central is that of MRS. GROENEVELD, who teaches sophomore English. She also is the director of the junior-senior dramatics club. This year she re-organized Central's chapter of the National Forensic League.
- 6. A new face at Central High this year is that of MR. SIMPSON. He teaches algebra and geometry. He is a graduate of General Beadle College and received his master's degree from State College. Mr. Simpson is a former superintendent of Ramona High School.
- Our faithful librarian is MRS. GULSTINE. Besides being chief consultant on literary matters, she supervises the library club.

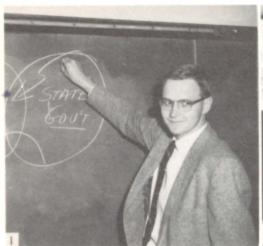

Faculty

Dependable, Willing and Understanding

- I. MR. MACINTOSH spent his first year of teaching here at Central after graduating from South Dakota State College. Here he lectures to his problems class. In addition, he teaches American history and Speech II, and advises the debate squad and the dramatics club.
- 2. As she appears to the freshmen, MISS SCHROEDER paused for a moment from her duties as English I instructor. She also has the entire vocal music department including the mixed chorus, girls' and boys' glee clubs, and numerous small groups. She earned both her bachelor's and master's degrees from the University of South Dakota.
- 3. MISS NOACK is about to demonstrate the mimeograph to the Typing II class. Besides this, she also teaches Typing I and shorthand, and advises the annual staff. She is a graduate of the University of South Dakota.
- 4. MR. HIARING posed in front of the buffalo which the art class painted on the wall of the art room this year. A graduate of General Beadle, his duties include teaching science and art, and advising the science club.
- 5. When Roy Groeneveld became ill this fall, the Madison Teachers' Association wanted to express their get-well message in a gesture of helpfulness. Here the men faculty members paint his house, a job he had not been able to accomplish before his illness.
- The janitors, MR. SCHULTZ and MR. HEMRE, pause from their duties of keeping the school building clean and the school grounds neat.

The student body of Central High School is represented in student council by officers elected from each class. This year members from the council cooperated with the faculty and P.T.A. to draw up the Code of Ethics which was printed and sent to each family.

The many activities of the year include sponsoring the polio auction, selecting assembly programs for the coming year and planning homecoming.

Wayne Muth, president of student council flashes a smile at a lucky photographer. Wayne has presided over assemblies, represented the school at various functions and acted as master of ceremonies at the Follies, all duties of the student body president.

Class Officers

Struggling with the problem of decorating for their junior senior prom are the junior class officers: president V. Jensen, Vice president J. Wulff, secretary D. Krueger, and homeroom presidents M. Anderson, and B. Rhoden.

Homeroom president C. Liddiard turns the crank of the popcorn machine in anticipation of the coming year watched by the other sophomore officers, president D. Fields, vice president D. Halseth, and secretary D. Schmidt.

We Discover Our Ignorance

2. They say our world is getting smaller. Then why is everything so hard to find? Brushing up on their world geography are J. Gutzman, F. Stratman, L. Dahl, and M. McGowan.

4. Looking up various subjects in the library are D. Pardy, P. Istas, and D. Pooley.

5. The freshmen algebra class is making progress every day. Here three class members are demonstrating what they have learned on the board.

6. The scientists of tomorrow are now in the freshman general science class. Under the direction of their science teacher, Mr. Hiaring, they are trying an experiment.

- I. The boys in P. E. spent many hours playing difficult forms of tennis. Here the boys are demonstrating their skill at aerial tennis.
- 2. F. Strang, M.Bowman, S. Johnson, and L. Yeager, all in junior English, are looking up various words to see how their meaning has changed over the years.
- 3. To better their driving, D. Amonson, J. Ness, M. Bowman, and S. Peterson are taking a course in drivers' education. Due to the crowded facilities, drivers' training classes will be given during the summer months.
- R. Hof, R. Hallenbeck, and D. Lucas are solving geometry problems for the rest of the class.
- 5. One of the many projects of the art class is clay modeling. Showing some of their completed models and the ones they are working on are V. Tuttle, R. Hinde, J. Ness, and R. Leighton.
- 6. Looking vexingly at the contents in the pan are Dan Dooley and Glenda Chapman. Dissecting is an interesting as well as an educational part of biology.

The Pause that Refreshes

During the 1958 legislative election George McGovern, Democratic candidate for the United States Congress, spoke to the student body. Here he is being introduced by Wayne Muth, student body president.

Dedication of the 1957-58 Interlakes was made to a Central alumnus, Senator Karl Mundt. After the coeditors, Marian Nelson and Jennie Greene, presented Mr. Mundt with his copy, he reminisced about his school days at Central.

Presenting the Republican party's platform for the coming election was the Honorable Joe Foss, current governor of South Dakota and candidate for United States Congress.

Goblins, skeletons, and witches "spooked" Centralites at the Halloween pep meeting. In disguise are M. Arneson, C. Liddiard, and G. Chapman.

Chuck Binder, from the University of Minnesota, presented an assembly on reptiles of the Everglades.

The mixed octet, the boys' octet, and the girls' quartet are three active groups in our school. They entertain civic organizations and school functions. 1. Mixed octet, left to right. Back row: R. Hof, J. Holle, D. Blair, W. Muth. Front row: L. Habeger, R. Coats, M. Arneson, J. Jacobson.

2. Boys' octet, left to right. Back row: J. Watson, W. Muth, G. Knudson, D. Blair. Front row: R. Hof, B. Butts, D. Dooley, J. Holle.

Each year Madison Central has a preliminary local music contest. The following are the winners of this contest:

- I. R. Coats
- 2. E. Lincoln
 3. S. Lotspeich
 4. C. Jung
- 5. J. Watson
- 6. L. Knudtson

The band was one of the most active groups this past year. Every morning in the fall they were out practicing so they could put on a good show at the football games.

They took off an afternoon to go to Watertown to hear the U.S. Navy Band. They also went to Huron to entertain the people at the state fair.

The winter months were spent playing for basketball games and preparing for the annual spring concert and the music contest. Robert Lowry was the guest soloist for a very successful concert.

In the spring they were out on the street again preparing for a very busy summer. Last summer they went to Minneapolis and brought back a first place flag. They also took first place in the state Legion contest at Huron.

The 1958-59 All-State Chorus was held at Aberdeen, South Dakota, with guest director, Mr. Sateran, director of the Augsburg College Choir.

Thursday's highlights included the coronation program consisting of four skits after which Jeanette Jacobson and Wayne Muth were crowned queen and king. Following the coronation, the students, led by the band, marched to the west side of town where a blazing bonfire provided the setting for a spirited pepmeeting.

- I. Beaming with delight, Oueen Jeanette Jacobson and King Wayne Muth, reign over Central's homecoming events.

- 3. Dancing by the light of Japanese lanterns, MHS students bring to a close the 1958 honecoming.
- 4. "Step right up and take your turn at the time converter, sonny." These were the words spoken by M. C. Dick Pardy to a very nervous Dennis Rook.
- 5. America was represented by Jerry Dossett and Glenda Masters as they expressed the favorite teenage pastime, bopping.
- 6. The perky Holland dolls, Cheryl Jung and Karen Kessler, are just another wonder of the time converter.

The students spent Friday morning putting the finishing touches on their floats after a pep meeting held at the high school. "Around the World" was the theme of one of Central's best parades. A free show, "Knock on Wood" was held after this main event. The football game in the evening, in which the M H S Bulldogs were defeated by the Mitchell Kernels, climaxed the Homecoming activities. Japanese decorations made a beautiful setting for the dance which brought to a fitting close the 1958 Homecoming of Central High.

- 7. Yow! The cannibals are loose! The most humorous float, a true-to-life picture of Africa, was made by the sophomore homeroom M-Z.
- 8. "Alaska ain't nothing but an iceburg." This was the theme of the most original float presented by the sophomore homeroom, A-Hi.
- 9. The Hawaiian hula girls helped make up the most beautiful float, constructed by the junior homeroom, A-H.
- 10. "Hurry up with that napkin stuffing!" The juniors, R-Z, as well as many others, heard this many times as they hurried to finish their floats.
- II. High spirits, due to the cheerleaders' enthusiasm, prevailed at the homecoming bon-fire. Cheers and yells were heard as the blaze leaped and danced in the air.

Joo Little Done,

So Much to Do

The first school party in the autumn is the Interlakes annual-signing party. At this event are written the paragraphs that remain as memories to the students of M. H. S.

Each year M. H. S. Classes produce the Follies. This event is sponsored by the student body to reduce the price of the Interlakes. The net profit of the 1958-59 Follies was $590.50.

This was the 1957-58 Interlakes that won first place in Division II of the state competition sponsored by the South Dakota High School Press Association each year.

Linda Rich, editor of the faculty pages, and her assistant, Elaine Arechuck are interviewing Mr. Bogue to get information for a write up. Not pictured is Ann Gutzman.

Photographer, Karen Tosch is looking over one of the pictures she has taken. It is her responsibility to take pictures of all activities, events, and clubs.

Widens Our World

Maroon Staff

Why? When? Where? It takes the Maroon Staff many long hours of work to answer these three pertinent questions, which are the basis for every interesting news report.

4. Tim Taylor, sports editor, and his two assistants, Don Hill and Dean Rook, spend much of their time checking the results of the current sport events.

3. Jackie Brown, news editor, gathers the latest gossip from her reporters, Mary Arneson, Carol Grimstvedt, Ann Hess, Glenda Chapman, Linda Cross, Carolyn Liddiard, and Mary Rames.

I. Margie Stahl, editor, and Sally Johnson, editor-elect, study the dummy of their next edition of the Maroon.

2. Mr. Dockendorf, advisor, and JoAnne Rush, circulation editor, discuss plans for circulation of the final copies.

3. Laurie Lee, cartoonist, is hard at work designing a clever cartoon for the Maroon.

4. Matt O'Laughlin, photographer, is always present snapping pictures of interesting subjects.

Admiring the plaques they earned later are the local winners in the declamation contest. Joy, Carol, and Dick earned superiors in the district contest; then Carol and Dick won first in the state.

Going Once

Remembering the unfortunate is the main purpose for the Polio Auction which is held each year at Madison Central High School. This year's auction had one of the biggest returns, $1!4.81.

The student council must be given much of the credit for the success of the auction. They arrange for getting the materials.

The auction is an event to which every student lookd forward. The bidding is enjoyed by one and all.

Ladies' Choice

"Hillbilly Hoedown" was the theme for this year's annual Spinister Dance, which was sponsored by the Girl's Athletic Association. The gymwas decorated in typical hillbilly style. Changing roles for one night, the girls asked the boys and also "footed" the bills. Prizes were awarded to the best dressed hillbillys, Jackie Gist, and Harold Gienapp.

The bees have nothing on these girls. Buzz! Buzz! Buzz! The cause of this activity is the honor of being the first to earn a chapter degree.

The treasury was increased by several dollars following the ever popular bake sale in the school hall. In a matter of minutes every pan was bare, proving that the F. H. A. girls are the best cooks after all.

There's a Time for Everything

- Dancing to "rock in roll", the current popular music at Central, are G. Chapman and G. Lee.
- 2. Yum! Yum! That candy sure looks good! This is one of the many candy sales that were held this year.
- 3. Let's get out there and fight tonight!
 This is the advice coach E. Hilton gives to his football team during a pre-game huddle.
- 4. Giving the student body all of their vim and vigor are our "new" cheerleaders.
- 5. The largest and most spirited pep meeting of the year was held in front of Central.
- 6. Displaying the results of their well developed skills at sewing are the F.H.A. girls.

Assembly Snaps

The Pause that Refreshes

A special assembly was sponsored by the secret service of the government. Films of Germany and Russia were shown.

Another assembly featured artist Victor Onstad and his chalk talks. Especially liked was his picture of E. Arechuck and D. Blair.

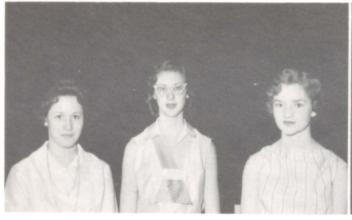

T. Taylor is no match for Irv Morgan when it comes to judo. Here he shows what to do if someone doesn't happen to like you.

V. Jensen and J. Hallenbeck can't figure out how magician Viggo Jahn can get these rings apart and together with such ease.

Setting a holiday mood, the various music groups presented the annual Christams concert. The Mixed Chorus, Boy's and Girl's Glee Clubs, several ensembles and soloists, under the direction of Miss Schroeder, sang popular seasonal selections. A humorous selection, "Twas the Night Before Christmas," concluded the program. The presentation was an inspirational send-off for the coming holiday vacation.

Sophomore sevenette: C. Jung, L. Cross, C. Liddiard, M. Rames, M. Arneson, C. Grimstvedt, and G. Chapman.

Freshman Sextet: E. Lincoln, S. Olson, B. Keever, B. Laughlin, L. Knudtson, and P. Blair.

Occupying the winter spotlight, Wendy Welch and Dick Pardy were chosen king and queen of the Holiday Hop. This event is sponsored annually by the Horizon Club.

- I. Musical entertainment for the Holiday Hop was provided by Pat Boffman and his small but lively band.
- 3. Crowning the 1959 Royalty are JoAnn Rush and Merle Pierson, 1958 King and Queen.
- 2. Punch anyone? Nothing tastes better than a cool glass of punch, especially when it's served by Mary Strand and Sandra Moose.
- 4. Laughing voices! Whirling skirts! Everyone helped to make the "Fantasy of Stars" one of the most successful events of the Christmas season.

"Loyal We'll Ever Be!"

"T for Team" is our theme. The job of the A Cheerleaders is to provide pep and enthusiasm for games and pep meetings. They lead the student body in rousing cheers to spur our team onward to victory. Winning or losing, at home or away, they are solidly behind our team. The A Cheerleaders also sponsor socials after the games.

The B Cheerleaders help the A Cheerleaders at pep meetings. They also have charge of the cheering section at B games and provide plenty of pep in backing up the team.

Basketball

The "B" squad entertained the sports fans before the varsity games every Friday night during the winter months. They were gaining experience so they could step into the ranks of the varsity squad in a year.

"Have ambition, will play!" Here is the motto of the Junior Varsity squad, a team formed to enable more boys to enjoy basketball this year.

The people named above were the ones from whom Mr. MacIntosh chose his debate squads for each event. Each person participated in several debates and gained valuable speaking experience from this activity. The question this year was: Resolved: Should the United States Adopt the Essential Features of the Russian System of Education? The team felt that all the hours necessary to prepare for the debates were well rewarded when they often returned victorious in many rounds.

Due to the work of their adviser, Mrs. Groeneveld, this group has become an active chapter of national status this year. The purpose of the organization is to recognize the work of students who have been active in speech. Points are accumulated by participation in debate, declamation, and speaking activities; and various degrees are awarded on the basis of the number of points earned. Many students are interested in speech, so this has provided a good measuring stick for their progress.

Slagel, D. Williams, C. Jung, L. Habeger.

The dramatics club consists of two groups, the freshman-sophomore and the junior-senior divisions. This year they did all of the make-up for the all-school play and the follies. The project for the year was the presentation of three one-act plays. This year they presented the following:

- I. The Bond Between. A serious portrayal of a Mother, Lana Habager, for her condemned son's life to the governer's wife, Madeline Stoltz.
- 2. Prom Date. Linda Anderson and JimWatson are two nervous teenagers who very much want to make this evening a success. They cram their heads full of rules to follow but finally dispose of them.
- 3. Couldn't I Kiss You Good-night? Anxious parents await the return of their daughter, Carol Grimstvedt, by her escort, Mike Anderson.

All School Play

Guilty?!! Innocent?!! Fragments of these whispered words swept through the throng of excited spectators of the 1959 all-school play, "Night of January 16th," as the jury selected from the audience retired from the auditorium to decide the fate of Karen Andre. Had Karen Andre murdered her former employer, Bjorn Faulkner, or had he committed suicide?

The attorneys (Dick Pardy and David Blair) put on a splendid battle; one defended Karen Andre (Jacque Gist), and the other tried to convict her with the help of his chief witness, Nancy Lee Faulkner (Peggy Oldre).

It looked hopeless for Karen until Larry Reagan (Mike Anderson) appeared and uncovered what was behind the evidence. Did Karen and Larry make up this fantastic scheme to save Bjorn Faulkner's name?

For all three performances held February 23 and 24, the jury brought in a verdict of "not guilty."

The efforts of the director, Mr. MacIntosh, student director, Carol Steinborn, the stage crew, the make-up committee, and most important, the entire cast, made this play a complete success.

- 1. Judge: Order, gentlemen! I will sustain the objection!
- 2. Karen: He's alive! You're lying to me! Not Bjorn! He's waiting for me--! don't believe it!--! won't believe it!
- 3. Karen: One of us is lying-- and we both know which one.
- 4. After testifying against "that sinful" Karen Andre, Magna Svenson stalks off the stage.

- 5. Being salled to the witness stand, Mrs. Hutchins walks neryously toward the stage.
- 6. Whitfield: Why you--you impudent upstart! Do you know that I can crush you like a worm as I have crushed many a better.
- 7. Roberta: If "Lefty" had stooped that low, he would have broke his back.
- didn't know! I would give my life for Senor Faulkner! And I helped to kill him!

Inspired Competition

The seniors wrote several skits and finally decided to use one featuring Mr. Southmayd's nickname "Toy" and our guidance program.

- I. A problem student Gary Knudson seeks guidance from Barth"Toy"O'Laughlin.
- 2. John Holle takes Gary aside to show him a typical coed, Linda Thompson. In the shadow of the "Moo U" campanile is Don Luebke.
- 3. The final scene was a pantomime by Fritzi Ericsson and David Blair to the record "Delicious."
- 4. Was it worth it? They believe so. For the first time the seniors won the skit trophy. Here Eugene Seitz presents it to the senior royalty candiates, Ann Gutzman and Gary Knudson.

The candidates for the 1959 Follies royalty were: juniors G. Porter and L. Rich, seniors G. Knudson and A. Gutzman, sophomores G. Lee and J. Thelen, and freshmen C. Weber and J. Olson. Spirited class competition followed to determine the King and Queen.

At M. H.S.

- I. The freshman skit gave a preview of the "Hashions" of the coming year. To show off a polka-dotted vest and pink shoe laces, G. Masters and N. Kuckenbecker worked out a cute dance to the current hit of that name.
- 2. A take-off on the popular T. V. show, Gunsmoke, was the sophomore skit, Gunsmog. D. Halseth has just killed J. Hall in a draw. They received a second place for their work.
- 3. The junior class decided to have a variety show on the rise of a teenager's idol. Here M. Anderson has just refused to sigh a contract with the company represented by J. Watson and P. Oldre. His sweetheart, J. Rush looks on.
- 4. Just before the crowning of the king and queen, a wrestling match was held in the gymnasium. Either T. Taylor or G. Haider has the better of his opponent but from this angle we can't tell who has the advantage.

Another way of getting points for their class is the judging of the pies and cakes. The winning class in each division received 60 points. The winner of first place in the pies was the junior class and the senior class took first in the cakes.

The members of science club conduct various experiments of a scientific nature. This year the projects included a microscopic study of plant cells, the revival of a dark room for developing and printing pictures, and discussions of current events in science. Individual projects were carried on outside of the club and reports of these experiments were given to the group.

Library Club

Quiet, Please

The Library Club, which is supervised by Mrs. Gulstine, assists in keeping the library in order. They make scrapbooks of important news events and keep the card catalog up to date. They also take charge of the desk during their study halls.

On the first Monday of every month the Elk's held their familiar "Youth nights." The evenings were spent dancing, playing cards, pool playing, and last but not least, eating! Teenagers from all over the county were invited and a good time was had by all.

The M Club is not only an honary club, but also a very active club. During the year they sponsor social hours and boost Central's spirit by selling pins at homecoming. They also provide the school with a supply of pencils stenciled with the football schedule. This year they purchased "sharp" new maroon and white letter jackets which help to create a stronger feeling of school spirit.

Our coaches, Mr. Mathison, Mr. Hilton, and Mr. Fingerhut, pause momentarily at the door to talk over the experiences and happenings of the $59 athletic season.

About forty schools participated in the Madison Invitational Track Meet or the Madison Relays, held April II.

The students of M. H. S. elected a queen and four attendents to reign over the events and hand out awards. Many students turned out to watch their classmates do their best to earn points for their school. Central boys placed high in the competion and several records were broken. In spite of their fine performance, Watertown High took first place but Madison followed closely in second place.

Jim Bakke, the junior track star, made himself known by breaking records in the high and the low hurdles. In the Sioux City and the Madison track meets he made a great showing by breaking the all-time records. He also tied the record in Aberdeen Relays.

It is certain that his skill will bring more fame in his next year at Central.

- I. The sprint medley team of G. Whealy, D. Halseth, J. Bakke, and D. Fields almost broke the record and may succeed next year.
- 2. D. Fields, C. Wenk, R. Alfson, L. Holdorf, D. McDonald, and D. Dooley represented M.H.S. in the half-mile and mile competition.
- 3. The hurdlers, J. Tofflemire, J. Bakke, and M. Klopf, gave fine performances in their unit.
- 4. The sprinters of the 1959 track squad are M. Klopf, K. Ring, G. Whealy, D. Halseth, J. Bakke, M. Nangle, and O. Dickerson.
- 5. M. Pearson, G. Giles, M. Anderson, K. Ring, J. Hall, F. McGowan, M. Nangle, and R. Campbell took part in the field events for M. H. S.

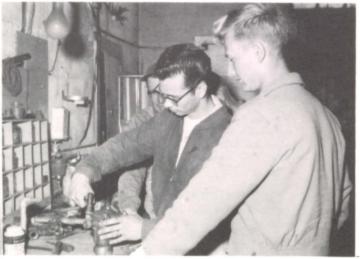

Student Government Day, held April 28, gave M.H.S. students an opportunity to take charge of the city government. Each year the American Legion sponsors this program to familiarize the students with the principles of local government. Running for office includes campaigning, speech giving, and all around student participation.

Imprisoned?? (They're out of school, though') Prisoners are: M. Stahl and J. Fox; police chief is R. Pardy.

M. Kloph gets on the job training under the supervision of V. Gregerson.

D. Halseth pleads not guilty to charges of speeding and resisting arrest.

Reward for the Diligent

Chosen to represent Madison High School at Girl's State are Sally Johnson and Ruth Coats. During their weeks stay at Mitchell, the girls will study the functions and purposes of our State Government.

D.A.R. Representative

The 1959 DAR candidate from Central High School is Gay Lynn Noteboom. Several girls are nominated by the senior class; from these one girl is selected by the faculty. To be eligible for this award you must be outstanding in leadership, dependability, church and homelife, and patriotism.

Boys' State

Dean Rook has been chosen by Superintendent Baughman at Yankton to represent Madison at Journalism City. This is an honorary city for people interested in the field of journalixm. They will learn the techniques of good writing by publishing a paper on the events of Boy's State.

This years Boys' Staters are Gene Whealy, Merle Pierson, and James Watson. The three boys will spend one week at Aberdeen together with boys from every high school in the state studying South Dakota Government. At Boy's State they form a "student state" and put into practice what they have learned.

Sheer Delight

Carol Steinborn presided over the banquet as mistress of ceremonies.

The Junior-Senior Banquet was held in the Saint Thomas gymnasium. The theme, "Mardi Gras," was carried out by the use of masks, balloons, and confetti. The meal consisted of delicious turkey with all the trimmings. The program featured main speaker, Hartley MacIntosh, mistress of ceremonies, Carol Steinborn, and several other speakers. The junior quartet sang "Mardi Gras" and "Basin Street Blues."

- 2. Another view of the dancers and their partners from above is shown here.
- 3. Even teachers can enjoy a banquet and prom. Here Mr. Simpson, Mr. MacIntosh, and Mr. Miller get together for a chat.

With the theme of "Mardi Gras" creating a mystic mood, the prom was a very successful affair. Music provided by the Royal Aces was enjoyed by many students and members of the faculty.

4. A constant flow of music was played by the Royal Aces who contributed greatly to the success of the prom.

The National Honor Society members are chosen by the school faculty from the members of the junior and senior classes. They are selected for scholarship (maintaining at least a "B" average) service, leadership, and character. Only 15% of a class are eligible. This year several new members were added. They are: T. Taylor, D. Prill, M. Robson, A. Strand, J. Fox, R. Coats, K. Hardy, M. Johnson, K. Tosch, M. Stoltz, L. Thompson, G. Noteboom, J. Pederson.

The seniors file in, to take their places for the long awaited Baccalaureate service held in the auditorium on May 24. The sermon, "Stopping Too Soon," was presented by Rev. Robert Wegner of the Methodist Church. The girls' glee club and mixed chorus sang several selections and concluded the program with a choral benediction.

The class of $59 received their dip-lomas during the commencement excercises on May 27. The main speaker, Dr. Maurice Nelles of Chicago, gave an interesting talk concerning the experiences of his life. Being a former resident of Madison and a former student of MHS, he told of the way things were in the community during that time. After the main speech, the following awards and scholarships were presented.

Wayne Muth, the American Legion Citizenship Award; Joy Pederson, the Disabled American Veterans Speech Award; Martin Berkelo, the V.F.W. Scholarship; Don Leubke, the Rotary Scholarship; Jeanette Jacobson, the Morrill Days Scholarship; Russell Leighton, the scholarship presented by Paul Bratager; Ellen Lincoln and Mary Kaisersatt, the Freshman Kiwanis Scholarship Medal; GayLynn Noteboom, the valedictory honors; and Marsha Johnson, the salutatory honors.

Wayne Muth receives the Citizenship Award from Glenn Caldwell, commander of the American Legion.
