Center photo: ALL STATE CHORUS—Who would have ever guessed that MHS had such great vocal talent?

The 1987-88 school year at Madison High has proved to be very interesting and exciting. Possibly the most exciting event of the year can be credited to the Girls Basketball Team which placed 3rd in the State Tournament and posted a 25-2 win-loss record. Not to be outdone, the school chorus sent twelve students to All-State. Mr. Jim Miller, play director, earned a superior award at the state One Act Play competition with the play, "A THE HAWK'S WELL."

Two new teachers were added to the staff. Mr. Jerome Gerry, took over the chemistry classes and served as head football coach. Mr. Gene Lorenz taught computer and was head basketball coach. Mr. Gerry comes to MHS from O'Gorman High School.

Married and the father of three sons, he has established his own program of recruiting for future years. Mr. Lorenz, being single, will have to depend on other people to provide him with his future team members. Many of the MHS students have combined part time work with their studies. For many students at MHS work is a necessity, while for others a job provides spending money, cars, and savings for college or vocational school. As long as the hours are not too many and too late at night, jobs provide good learning experience in arranging time and assuming responsibilities. Studies, work and activities continue to provide the students at MHS opportunities to become well-rounded citizens who will someday be fine leaders in our community and country.

The highlight of Homecoming festivities is usually the suspense of finding out who will reign as King and Queen. This year was no exception. Excitement mounted until Paula Gruenhagen and John Mathison were officially crowned the 1987 MHS Homecoming King and Queen.

The coronation centered around the theme of "We've Only Just Begun." The stage was decorated in the colors of royal blue and yellow. Mike Benning, performing as Master of Ceremonies, introduced the King candidates: John Mathison, Dan Poppen, Pat Harrington, Jason Maxwell, Matt Peterson, and Queen candidates Paula Gruenhagen, Monica Nelson, Kelli Hamlin, Marla Johnson, and Amy Issenhuth.

The candidates were escorted to the stage by Trevor Thielbar. Melissa Jerke, pianist, accompanied by Denise Ziebarth provided music for the processional march. Jeannie Cordts, last year's queen, ended the evening of suspense by crowning John Mathison and Paula Gruenhagen 1987 Homecoming King and Queen.

Friday was the beginning of the big day with a pep assembly in the auditorium followed by a tug of war and water melon feed. The Bulldogs, in high spirit, proceeded to defeat the Chamberlain Cubs 36-13.

Following the Bulldog victory a dance was held at the high school. Students and alumni danced to the music of the dance band, "The Action".

Homecoming week was ushered in with Mike Benning acting as Master of Ceremonies for the Tuesday evening Talent Show.

First performance of the evening was by the student band, N.R.G., with John Guenther on drums, Scott Weatherill on bass and Stacy Applewick and Chris Beyer as performing vocalists.

The band's first selection was, "Take It Easy", followed by Stacy singing "Let's Talk About It", and concluding with Chris singing, "Johnny Be Good". A full house gave the band a standing ovation.

Cory Heidelberger and Michael Paulukonis performed three selections from "Feiffer's People" by Jules Feiffer. First came a duet, then a solo by Cory and Michael. Cory then performed a monologue and a wry twist, while Michael performed a punk-dance. They concluded their performance with a duet called "George".

Martin Nussbaum earned honors for best performance with a humorous solo about credit cards. Martin's original selection was a crowd pleaser.

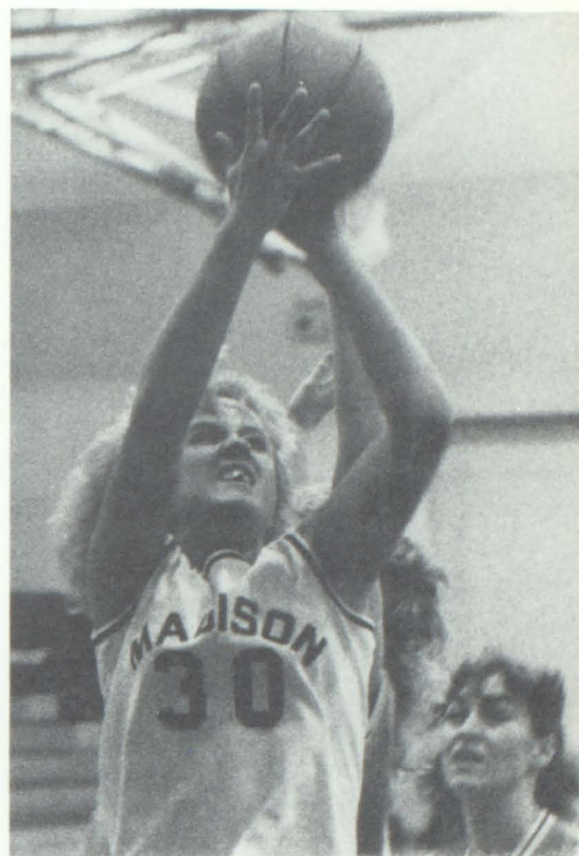

Following the talent show Paula Gruenhagen and John Mathison were crowned 1987 Homecoming King and Queen.

Wednesday was declared, "Back to the Beach Day", with students dressing in various leisure beach attire.

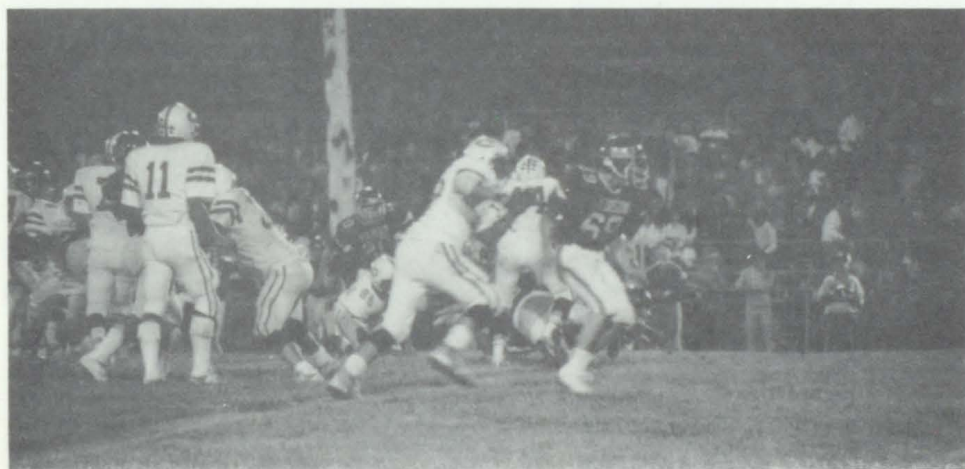

Thursday was declared 50's to 60's Day. The Girl's Basketball Team played Brandon Valley to commence the evening festivities and trounced the visitors 71-36 thus running their winning streak to 5-0 for the year.

Following the game a pep rally was held while burning the M. King and Queen candidates were paraded thru downtown Madison in open convertibles amid the blaring of horns and cheering of the student body.

FACULTY

FACULTY

The students at MHS are served by an outstanding faculty. With years of experience and education the faculty is highly qualified in all respective fields. Because of past monetary incentives by the Board of Education and the quest for additional knowledge by individual faculty members, many of our teachers hold Masters Degrees and additional hours past the Masters in their respective fields. Few school systems in the country can boast of a more highly trained and dedicated faculty.

Future secretaries hard at work.

Education, experience, and skills are only one aspect of a good teacher. Concern for the students and their welfare are also qualities that are evident in our faculty at MHS. Many teachers become involved in the activities and problems of individual students. Numerous hours are given by faculty members in assisting and counseling students.

FACULTY

The people behind the scenes are the secretaries. Hours of hard work with little recognition is usually the reward of our secretaries and aids. Often, we as students, have to turn to these people for help when the faculty and administration are involved in other tasks. Without the assistance of these ladies, the wheels at MHS might cease to turn.

Hats off to our custodians! These are the gentlemen who seldom receive any praise for the excellent appearance of our buildings. They are devoted to keeping our laboratories, halls, and lunchrooms attractive. We, the students at MHS, say, "Thank you for a job well done. We often litter the halls without ever thinking of who it is that has to clean up our mess."

A special thanks has to go out to the Administration and the many devoted Board of Education members in the Lake Central School District. Individual board members devote many hours to make MHS an outstanding institution. Without the leadership of the Administration, many of the new ideas and innovations that have taken place at MHS would not exist today.

We salute Fred Larson and the fine kitchen staff that provide us with the nourishing noon meals. Some students will complain about the food, but where can a person receive such an excellent nutritious meal for such a low cost? Certainly, there are few students at MHS that look undernourished.

The MHS Marching Band completed another successful year as they placed 2nd in the Parade and Field Competition at the Tri-State Band Festival in Luverne, Minnesota. Next in order was a 1st place in the Trojan Day Marching Contest and a 1st in the Class A Quad State Marching Contest in Vermillion. Two-thirds of the Madison Band entries at the Region Solo and Ensemble Contest received superior ratings. The Symphonic Band also earned a superior rating in the Large Group Contest. In April the band members and parents again sponsored their annual Turkey Dinner which turned out to be a financial success. The final performance of the year was at graduation ceremonies.

Vocal Music has continued to grow at Madison High School. For the first time there were two separate choirs—Mixed Chorus and also a new Girls Chorus. Each group performed a part of the Winter and Spring Concerts, as well as participating in Large Group and Solo and ensemble contests. MHS vocalists achieved state wide recognition when they were chosen to perform at the State Music Educators Convention in February. Since then, the choir has received an invitation to perform in New York City at Avery Fisher Hall. Once again, choir students traveled to the Twin Cities area for an evening of musical theatre at the Chanhassen Dinner Theater and a day at Valley Fair Amusement Park. This is the fourth year the choir has taken the trip.

At Hawks Well was selected as the One Act Play to be presented by the MHS Drama Department. This drama, written by William Butler Yeates, portrays events in the early history of Cuchulain, which foreshadow his later career. It depicts the futility of the hero's quest. Paralyzed by the dance of the hawk-like Guardian of the Well, he succumbs to the lure of eroticism and loses sight of his mission. Cuchulain is responsible for his own failure; the pursuit of his dream leads only to subsequent pain and destruction. The play is dominated throughout by a sense of defeat and disillusion. The old man, exhausted by the quest for immortality, points to the vanity of life, while the young and bold-hearted Cuchulain represents man's striving for spiritual transformation. The climax of the action lies not in words but in the dance, with the commentary provided by the final words of the dancers.

The Madison Cast earned one of six superior awards that were given in state competition. Cory Heidelberg earned a superior award in the male lead category with his portrayal of the Old Man. Andy Cook earned an excellent in the male support role, and Nicole Petersen, Meredith Schlisner, Darci Bowman, and Michelle Glanzer earned superior awards in the Ensemble Category. The technical crew received medals for their excellent cast support.

After weeks of blocking, choreography and music rehearsals, Madison High Theater Company produced for a record crowd the musical "Godspell." The students really worked hard to produce a show that had a significant message—the gospel according to St. Matthew. The story line of the play was acted out among the setting of a construction site. Amid the scaffolding, rubble and junk, the actors of street people recreated the parables told by Jesus through the gospel. The show contained many memorable musical numbers including "Day by Day", "Prepare Ye the Way of the Lord", "All for the Best", "Turn Back O Man", and "By My Side". The Company was cast from every student who auditioned therefore giving everyone a chance to perform in the show. Along with the performers, a tech crew composed of strictly technical workers and some cast members worked hard to build and paint the scenery. Many items had to be collected and returned making the technical work last longer than the performance. With the addition of a new light board, the light crew had a task of creating numerous light changes throughout the show including a unique chase sequence. For many students this production will be long remembered.

Lower Right: Jennifer demonstrates how it is done.

The Annual Staff got off to a loud and noisy start with Jennifer riding shotgun and seeing that all things fell into place. Jennifer had many clever ideas for the 1987-88 yearbook but as usual Mr. Lang was there to put the brakes on some of them with his often asked question: "Who is going to do the work?" A sizable staff started the year only to dwindle as time went on. It was at this time that Jennifer came to the rescue with her tireless effort and enthusiasm. Years from now we can look back and thank her for the reminder of the many fine memories we had as students at MHS in 1987-88.

MAROON

This year the Maroon staff published eight issues. A variety of school activities were covered, and the usual reviews, columns, and new literacy section rounded out each paper. The Maroon had hard-winning issues, and reporters were recognized in several different journalism competitions. In 1988 SD High School Press Spring Writing Contest, Madison tied with Parkston and Webster for the Sweepstakes Award in schools under 450 enrollment. Individually, co-editors Andrew Cook and Martin Nussbaum scored third in front-page layout. Staff writer Janice Johnson accumulated the most points in feature writing and reporter Scott Anderson won first and second for news features. Cory Allen Heidelberger received first in general interest column. Janice Johnson was selected to attend Journalism City at Girls State and Scott Anderson was selected to attend Journalism City At Boys State.

NFL

The National Forensic League is a national organization, the official purpose of which is "to promote the interests of interscholastic debate, oratory and public speaking by encouraging spirit of fellowship and by conferring a worthy badge of distinction." Senator Karl E. Mundt of MADISON is one of the founders of the NFL, and Madison High School is one of the earliest chapters.

To gain membership in the NFL, students must earn points by competing in oral interp, original oratory, extemp, team debate, Lincoln-Douglas debate or Student Congress. As the points—which are based on the member's ranking in a round of competition—accumulate, the NFL member earns a series of degrees. The first degree the "Degree of Merit" requires 25 points. The highest degree a student may earn is the Double Ruby, which requires 500 points—half of which must be earned in debate and half of which must be earned in individual events or service points. To earn the Double Ruby in the National Forensic League is an honor. Current Double Ruby members at MHS are: Heather Means, Monica Nelson, Michael Paulukonis, and Martin Nussbaum.

The purpose of the Student Council is to give the student body a voice in school activities, events and policy. The process involved allows the students to exercise democratic self-government under practical conditions. This creates an atmosphere of interest in the welfare of the school and a pride in the school's objectives and achievements. At present, the Student Council is involved in various activities. Recognition of scholastic excellence by the Student Council is reflected in its sponsorship of the National Honor Society.

DEBATE

The MHS Debate season begins the first week-end in November and culminates with State Student Congress in April. During that season there are many types of events in which a student may compete. The most familiar and popular is team debate, an event which pits a team of two affirmative speakers against two negative speakers in a structured debate format. All debaters in the United States argue the same resolution during the school year. The 1987-88 topic was "Resolved: the United States Government should adopt a policy to increase political stability in Latin America." Another event held during the debate season is Lincoln-Douglas Debate. In "L-D Debate" a single affirmative and negative speaker argue a value-oriented question, such as "Resolved: There is no such thing as a just war". There are also three individual events in which students may choose to compete at any debate tournament. The first of these oral interp, which often appeals to students with a "dramatic flair". Interpers read and interpret humorous or serious works of literature. Another individual event is original oratory. Orators, who are often the best writers and most persuasive speakers, write and memorize an eight to ten minute speech, usually on a current social problem. Extemporaneous speaking, the third individual event, features speakers who think quickly and analytically. Extempers draw three current events—questions, select one, and prepare a 6-8 minute speech during a 30-45 minute preparation period. Each debate tournament holds competition in all events, frequently sub-dividing each event into levels of experience from novice to varsity. Students frequently compete in at least one individual event as well as debate at each tournament. This year's squad had a very successful year, winning trophies and awards in all events throughout the season.

DECLAM

The Oral Interpretation (sometimes known as "Declam") season begins the first week in October and finishes with the State Festival at the end of November. The six official categories are humor, drama, serious prose, poetry, memorized oratory, and duet acting. Students may compete in one or two events at every tournament.

The 1987-1988 interp squad included the following competitors: Humor—Cory Allen Heidelberg, Jennifer Rethorn, and Amy Serfling; Drama—Monica Nelson, and Tonya Gannon; Serious Prose—Michael Paulukonis, Careen Night Pipe, Amy Serfling, and Pat Laisy; Poetry—Careen Night Pipe, Jennifer Rethorn, Cory Allen Heidelberg, Travis Hubbell, and W. The Madison Bulldogs under the leadership of first year coach, Jerome Garry, finished the season on a four-win and five-loss record. The Bulldogs got off to a fast start by defeating Sisseton 28 to 0. The next two games were hard fought but found the Bulldogs on the short end of the score by seven and four points respectively. Homecoming proved a different story as the Bulldogs trounced Chamberlain 36 to 13. Next West Central and Brandon Valley upset the local team by identical scores of 22 to 21. It was again the Bulldogs turn to return to their winning ways by defeating Lennox 14 to 13 and Hamlin 14 to 12. In the final game of the season the Bulldogs lost to Number One ranked Roncalli in the State Playoffs. Pat Harrington, Dan Poppen, and Rick Nighbert were named to the All Conference Honorable Mention Team and Jason Maxwell and Kevin Pardy were named to the All State Team. Coach Garry will face a difficult task of rebuilding his Bulldog squad as he will be without the services of thirteen seniors.

Madison's Boys Track Team captured a 1st in the State A Track Meet. This was the 1st State Championship in athletics in forty three years for a Madison Team. Madison's last State Championship came in basketball in 1945 when the Bulldogs won the State B. This new success was a well earned triumph for Coach Jim Cordts whose track teams have provided Madison H. S. with their strongest athletic program in recent years. After winning the Flandreau Invitational, Madison Chamber of Commerce, and the Region 11 Track Meet, the boys went on to take 1st in the State—three boys placing 1st in their individual events. Not to be outdone, Tammy Sterzinger placed 1st in the long jump and triple jump. She established a new all time state record in the triple jump—37 feet and 1 inch. The Madison Girls Team earned themselves a 6th place finish in the State Meet.

A hard road ahead for the sophomores.

Mom, don't make me go, please!

Mr. Joe Junior Cool.

Mrs. Joe Junior Cool.

Shelley C.

I'm Scared of the Seniors.

We have new teachers, more friends, a larger selection of courses to choose from, and all those activities! No one ever told us that high school was going to be like this. There was our first day in English when Mr. Johnson informed us that it was time to grow up and behave like adults. Later in the week, Mr. Koster asked us what they taught us in Junior High School Science. Then, to add insult to injury, before we are able to adjust to our new life in high school, Mr. Lang spent an hour informing us of the classes, credits, tests, etc . . . that are necessary if we ever expect to graduate from good old MHS. We were just getting used to the idea that four years is forever, and then the counselor begins to prepare us for old age. Oh! well, it has really been a great year, and guess what? Next fall we will be the wise and experienced sophomores who will be able to enjoy the new crop of freshman arriving from the Junior High.

Freshmen students hard at work. Ha! Ha!

Nine down and three to go! Does this remind you of something that might be heard at a MHS football game? Well, it isn't. That is the remaining time those of us who put our noses in the books will have to serve, if we earn all of our credits. But, Oh! what fun this year has been! If the remaining three are as enjoyable, we may just decide to stay another year. But then, three years from now we hope to be as knowledgeable and important as the seniors, so it won't be necessary. What freshman girl would dare to miss a school dance with all of the senior boys standing in line waiting for the next dance? And the senior girls, after reviewing the freshmen boys, shake their heads and mutter, "Gosh! They are just kids." Oh! well, it has been a great year, even if we were considered the scrubs. With the wisdom, knowledge, and experience that we have acquired this past year, stand back MHS and watch the freshman class of 1987-88 lead the way thru the rest of the 80's and into the 90's. Best of luck to our wonderful senior graduates. We wish you success and happiness.

After two years of taking mostly required courses, we have been allowed to explore the world of electives. For many of us planning on college it has been a continuation of the basic mathematics, science, English, and social studies along with the addition of a foreign language, art, or computer class. Those of us planning to attend a vocational school or sign an armed forces enlistment have taken courses in the shop area or business. Then, there are those among us who have explored the area of art and home economics. Few could visualize the hidden talents of members of our class that have been discovered by Mrs. Frederick in Art, nor the stomach cramps that the boys in home economics could create. It has been a great year with each of us heading in various directions academically, but all working toward the goal of graduation.

Another school year is coming to a close and we are left with many wonderful memories. Long will we recall the concern and interest that has been shown for us by the faculty of Madison High School. Never will we forget the encouragement, enthusiasm, and spirit shown by Jenny Ulrich whenever members of our class were involved in school activities. Remember the times we would sneak into her office to find out who was the recipient of the roses delivered to the school? As we look forward to our senior year and being known as upperclassmen, we begin to realize just how fast our high school years are passing. Oh! But what great and exciting experiences are awaiting us as we lead MHS thru the 80's.

College, vocational schooling, armed forces, or a job are the goals of the 1987-88 senior class. We will be following in the paths of many former Madison High School Graduates as we enroll in colleges at South Dakota State, The University of S.D., Northern, Dakota State, and Augustana. Approximately seven percent of our class will be attending college out of state. Most of these students are selecting colleges in Minnesota but some are heading for distant states as far away as California. The Armed Forces has an extremely attractive offer for those who desire Uncle Sam to pay part of their college costs. Vocational schooling has attracted several of our classmates desiring a salable skill without having to spend a great amount of additional time in the classroom. Some graduates will go directly into the workforce at local industries or in partnership with their fathers on the farm. May we all meet again in 1993 to reminisce about the great times we had at MHS.

SET THE NIGHT TO MUSIC

Senior Prom was a night to be cherished in the memories of all Junior and Senior students who attended. The evening commenced with the seniors attending a banquet at Nicky's. Marcus Gross welcomed the senior class and John Mathison responded. After dinner the Junior and Seniors with their dates proceeded to the high school. They were met at the front entry by the fathers of the Juniors who parked their cars and escorted each couple into the school. Many parents watched as the couples were escorted into the building. The front halls and the lunchroom were decorated in green and silver. Couples spent the evening dancing to the music of "Sky Pilot". Refreshments were served by the sophomore girls. At the conclusion of the dance an after prom party was hosted by the parents of the students at the Elks Lodge. Games were played and prizes awarded. It was truly an evening to be remembered!

I have attempted to the best of my ability to publish a quality book of exceptional value that is representative of the entire school. I would like to give many thanks to Mr. Lang for allowing me to incorporate many of my ideas. I would also like to thank Hal Rethorn for the camera he donated to the Annual Staff and Dan Halsworth for the many pictures he contributed. I appreciate Mrs. Frederick's help with the artwork and layout design. I am also grateful to all the staff members for their help in layout, typing, and copy. I hope that this year's annual will bring you many hours of memories and enjoyment in years to come.

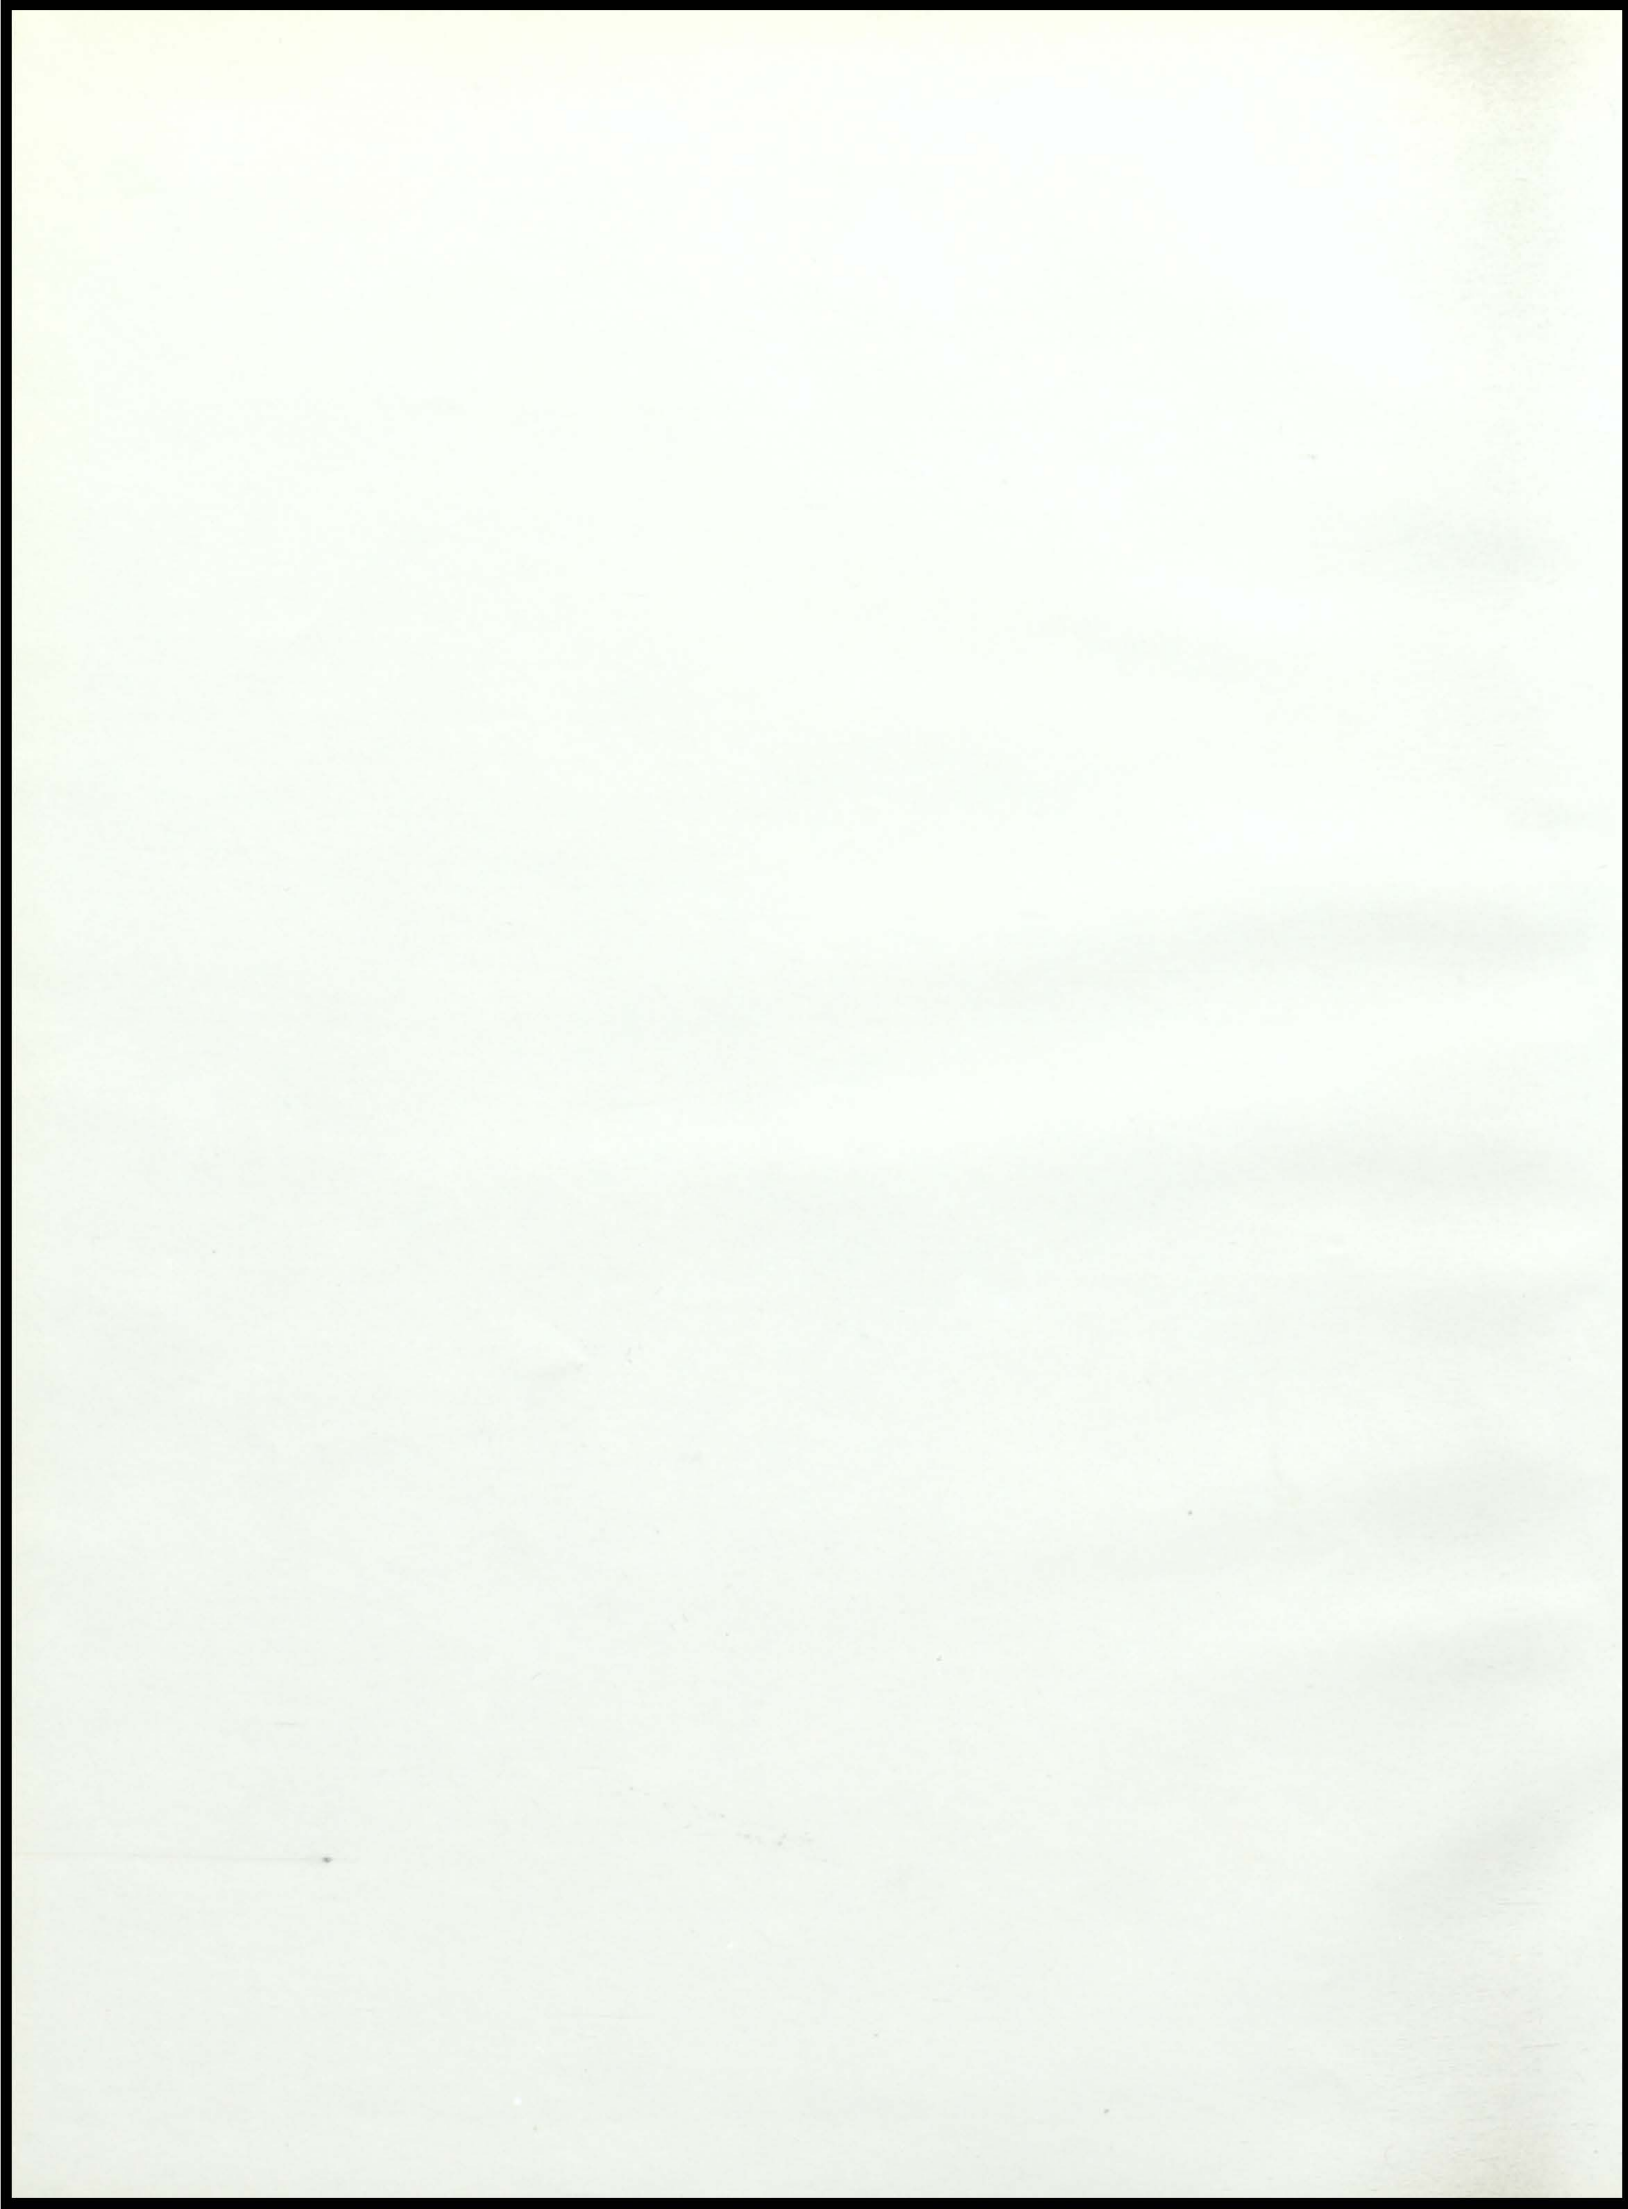

I have received from the list of my friends a letter from a lady who writes that she is very ill and that she would like to see me. I am sorry to hear of her illness and I am sure that I should like to see her. I am sorry that I cannot do so at present but I am sure that I shall be able to do so in the future. I am sure that I shall be able to do so in the future. I am sure that I shall be able to do so in the future.
