SOME LIKE

IT HOT

But, MHS is COLD!

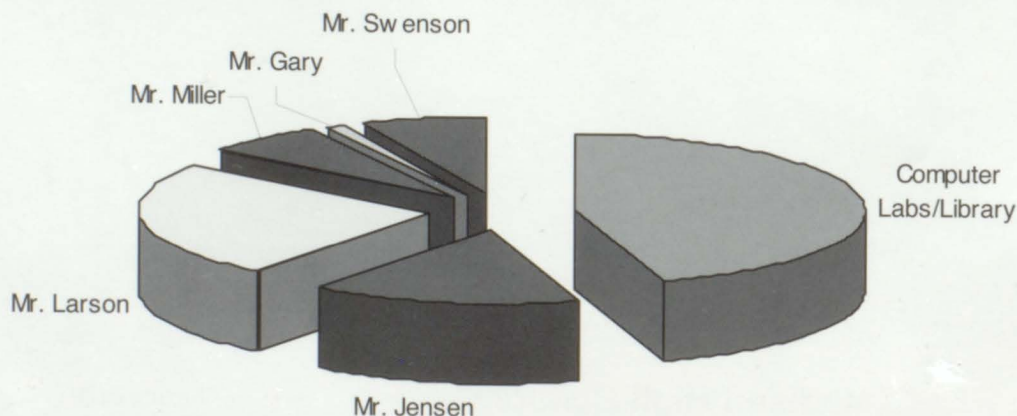

Shivering through four years of poorly temperature controlled classrooms, I have come to realize that some, perhaps more than some, like it hot. Some have stated the chilly breezes that gust by the desks are the only reason they can manage to stay awake through some lengthy tests. Either way the frigid temperatures have been, at the least, an inconvenience, and so as yearbook co-editors, we thought the 60 degree temperatures would be a great theme for the yearbook. Being the seasoned veterans we are, we did a little research to get opinions of those who matter . . . the seniors. In a short survey of the seniors, it was discovered that, believe it or not, people would first use their agenda planners to start a fire. And how many parents would be content with sending their children to classrooms where one in four students fear hypothermia or frostbite on their fingers and toes. There you have it . . . Madison High School is cold!

Brrr Cold . . .

Amanda Reynolds and Kellie Stout can't figure out why in May we still have to wear sweaters to school.

Which room is the coldest?

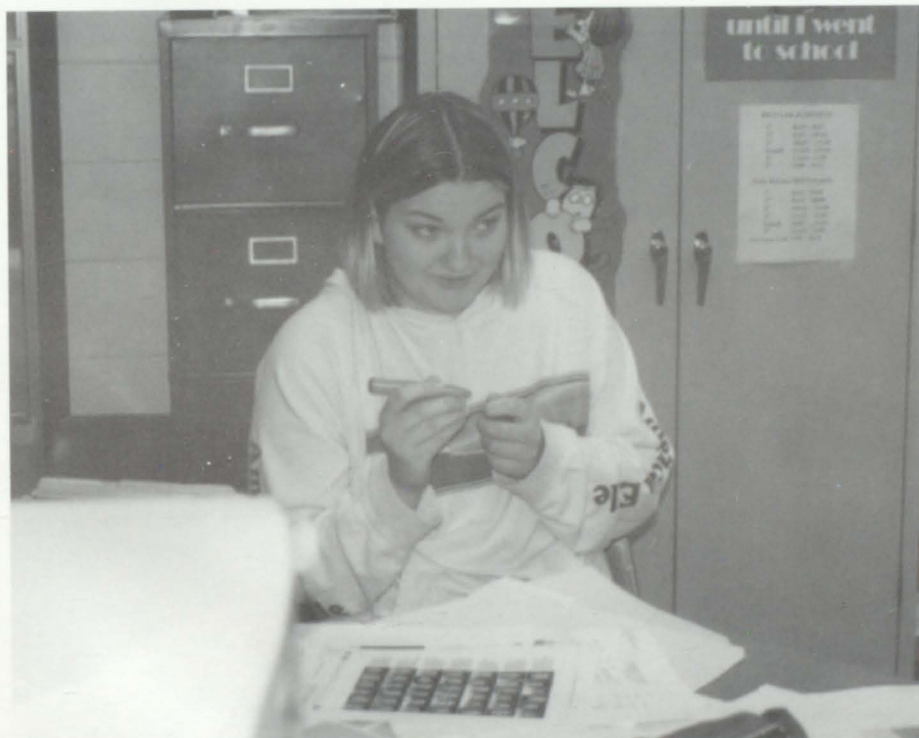

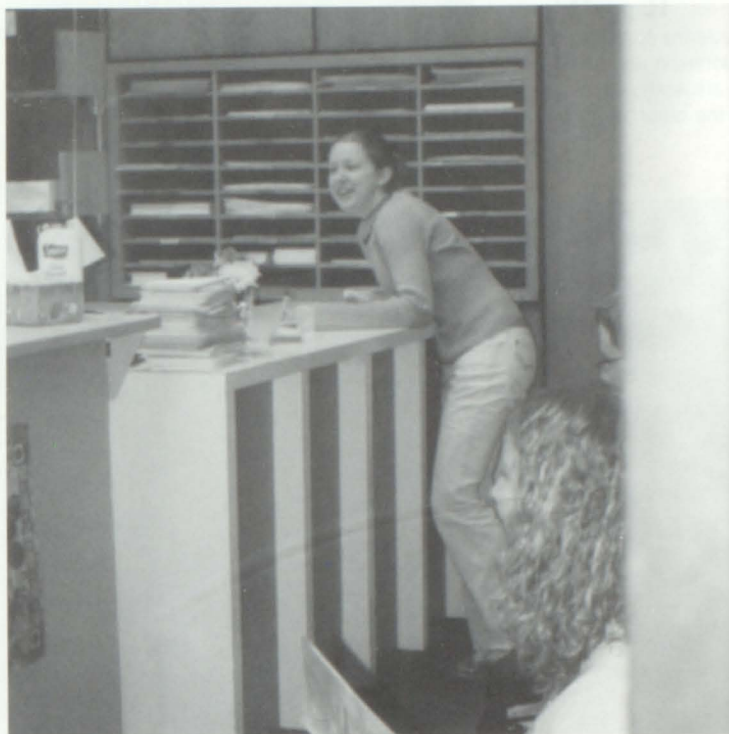

Can We Build a Fire?

Emyle Elliott huddles in the corner while waiting for someone to bring her wood to start a fire.

Beggin' Megan

We find Megan Hoffman in the principal's office pleading to have the heat turned up. Sadly, as usual, she is denied.

Familiar Words to On-line Students

GRRRRR...

Luke Garry grimaces as his work is delayed once again by computer difficulties.

It's fifth period. Our class is in the computer lab taking on-line tests in Spanish. The results are emailed to us, but we can't print them or show our teacher because the email sites have been blocked. In composition, I try to research information for a paper, but alas, some of the sites I wish to access are blocked too. Even links on some teachers' websites flash the words: Request blocked by WebBlocker.

At the beginning of each school year, students are asked to sign an Internet use agreement, stating that they will comply with the rules set before them concerning the World Wide Web. However, with all the inappropriate material available on the Internet these days, the administration has taken some preventive measures to ensure that students do not open certain websites. Still, in the very agreement students sign, it is stated that students and teachers have access to electronic mail communication with people all over the world. However, that is definitely not the case.

As the year has progressed, students have become more and more familiar with the system's WebBlocker. While the idea of a blocking system is not completely unnecessary, some students feel the current system is somewhat extreme. QUOTE.

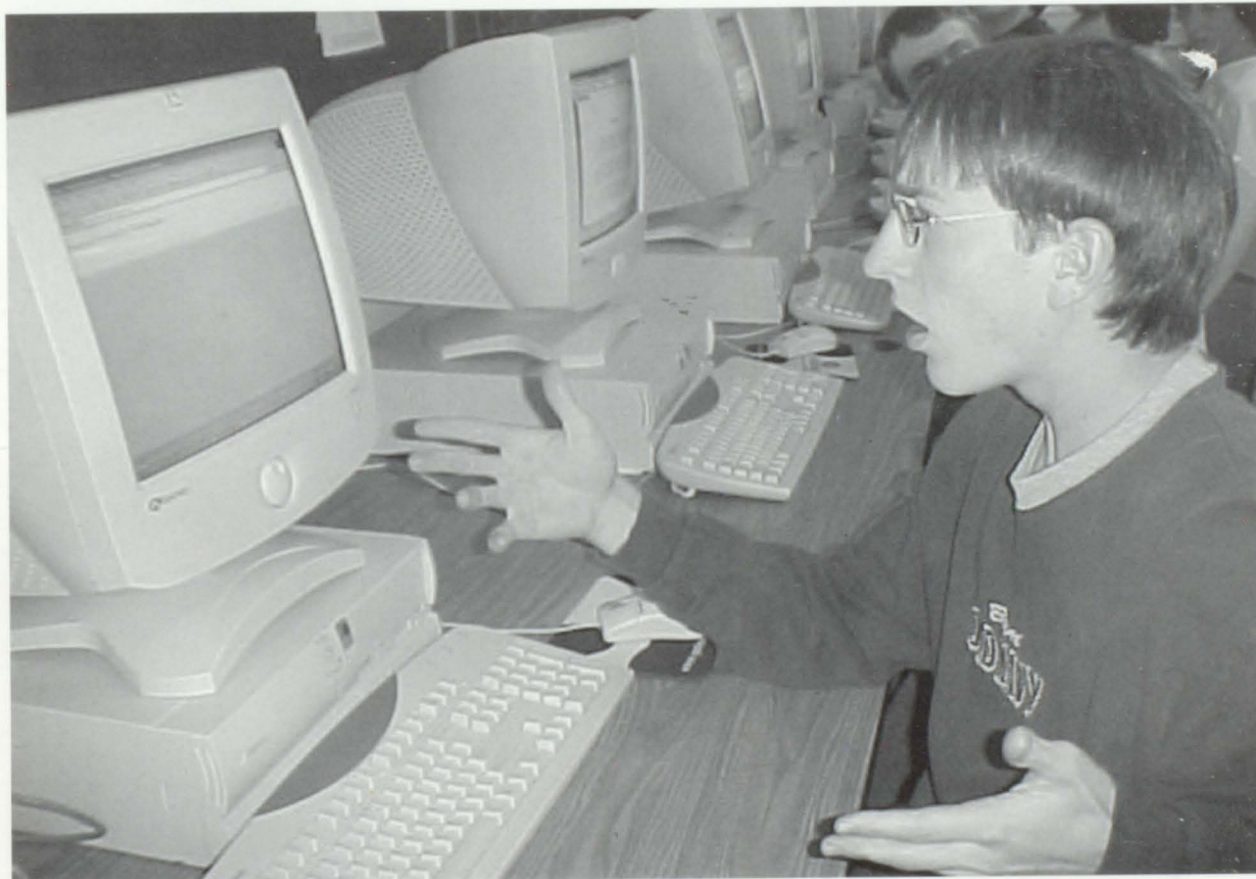

We, as students, have seen a growing amount of restrictions placed on computer usage over the years. Only time will tell if these limitations will ever be lifted so that students may take advantage of the surplus of opportunities available to them through the Internet.

Super Random Week

A Week of Random Activities

King and Queen of the Parade

Enjoying their place of honor in the Dakota State University's Homecoming Parade, Jason Hodne and Megan Johnson reign as King and Queen for one more day.

Random Royalty

Michael Brozik, Bethany Friedow, Luke Garry, Katie Brown, Lindsey Higgins, David Hollister, Natalie Muellenberg, Tyler Campbell, King - Jason Hodne, and Queen - Megan Johnson.

A Whole New World

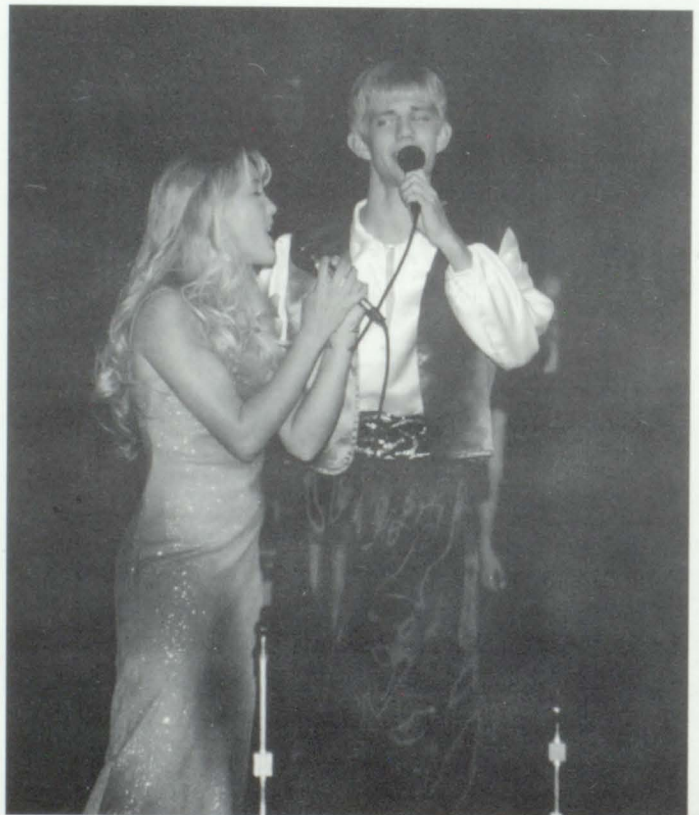

Could that be Aladdin and Jasmine? No, it's our very own John Bergan and Alison Jarrett singing their way to first place in the talent show.

Homecoming again came fast this year. A fun week to get pumped up for. The new freshmen and new students learned the traditional ways of homecoming. Fun, games, toilet papering and the fastest way to clean up toilet paper.

The theme this year was Super Random Week. Monday night was set aside for Coronation and Talent Show. Dress-up days were Monday through Friday and included: Western Day, Super Hero Day, Green Day, Barbie/Ninja Day and Spirit Day. A pep rally was held to help brighten our spirits for the football game on Friday.

Monday night's Talent Show and Coronation was bigger and better than ever. Nine acts showed off their stuff. First place went to Alison Jarrett and John Bergan singing "A Whole New World", 2nd place to Dave Rislov playing "Classical Gas" on his guitar and 3rd place to Hailey Soyland's vocal solo "Good-bye to You." The slide show of pictures of the classes of 2006 - 2003 was fun to laugh at. Then, at last, we had the last year's queen, Carrie Threadgold, crown the new royalty; King Jason Hodne and Queen Megan Johnson.

Friday night brought the concluding homecoming week's activity - the football game. A great turnout of students, parents and alumni watched as the Bulldogs fell to Webster in a hard fought battle.

Shaving Cream Anyone

During the traditional "shave a balloon over a teacher's head" competition, Marlee Moe tries her best to initiate Mr. Grond to the activity. Mr. Bierschbach watches with interest and is glad that Marlee isn't his partner.

Pillow Jousting?

This isn't just any pillow fighting it's EXTREME pillow fighting for Chelsey Frewaldt and Stephanie Jones.

BRING IT ON!

This group of seniors are "ready to rumble" with all of the underclassmen during Class Olympics.

Anyone For Some Gum

Getting down and dirty and trying to find the hidden gum are Carly Seitz and Aaron Manthey.

Multi-talented!

Delighting the audience with Neil Young's "Heart of Gold," Drew Jones shows off his talents of playing the harmonica, guitar and singing.

Basement Hockey League Association of America

"Freedom From Canada"

What do you get when you take five freshmen boys, an empty basement, hockey sticks, and a little ball? The Basement Hockey Association of America of course. Charter members of the Association were: Ben Bundy, John Stone, Federico Hudson, Matt Stone and Ben Eide. They tried to get together at least once a week. They league is for fun, but it can get very competitive at times. John Stone said, "Sometimes I just need to let off some steam and what better way to do that than with a little basement hockey."

What do you think about the Basement Hockey League Association of America?

John Stone

"It's just to pass time when there's nothing to do."

Joe Bundy

"It's just fun that's all."

Matt Stone

"When there is no ice it's great to have a basement to play in."

Ben Eide

"It was a fun association to be in with the boys."

Fredrico Hudson

"It was a great experience to have while I was here."

First Fall Fantasy A Festival of Fun

This year winter formal was appropriately renamed Fall Formal due to the early end of the year dates. Still, this years' November 16th date was looked upon with just as much anticipation. The FBLA, as always, worked hard to put on the best possible dance, and even though some students protested the idea of hay bales. They were used in the most tasteful way. Ashley Koehne, a FBLA member, was happy with the decorations; even with the interesting obstacle of finding a backdrop for the fall theme and the constant balloon popping on decoration day. A satisfied participant of the dance, David Hollister, said the best part of the night was "just having a good time, groovin' to the hip-hop DJ!" All in all fall formal was a success.

Thumbs Up to Fall Formal!!!

Matthew Falor gives the annual dance a two thumbs up. While Alishia Salmen and Chris Utthe are too busy having a good time to notice the camera.

Majors Play More Than a Minor Role

Did you know that you can't put over 100 high school students on a football without any supervision? Band directors know this very well and place all their faith in the band's majors. It's the majors' jobs to keep everyone together and out of trouble. The Spirit of Madison has the best of the majors, Bethany Friedow, Tori Bertness and Lia Eastman. They have played a "major" role in keeping the marching band on top of their game.

Fun In Band?

Work Can Turn Into Fun

Well another year of band is gone and there was some good and some bad events. The good times like playing cards, the free days, or even the times when we were directed by some of our fellow band students. Some other good moments in our band year were the band concerts and contests.

I asked some of fellow students how they prepared for the contests. Kari Macziewski stated that she had too pulled a couple of all-nighters playing her heart away. In our local contest the Gold Band received an Excellent and the Wind Ensemble received Superior Plus and of course how could I forget about the Jazz Band which pulled out a Superior.

Puberty is something that most of us would choose to forget, but this year, cast and crew relived that stage of life in Puberty: The Game Show. With larger-than-life hosts, dorky contestants, a spunky audience, a stressed stage manager, and quirky commercials, the one-act members presented an unusual production.

The play showcased the trials and tribulations of two seventh graders traveling through puberty with the help of two egotistical hosts. Embarrassing moments, first kisses, and slumber parties entertained audiences and judges alike as the cast and crew took a superior rating at the regional contest.

As the thespians made the audience roar with laughter at state, judges were awarding them top honors. The show received a superior award, being 1 of only 4 schools out of 43 to obtain ones from every judge. Individual acting awards were given to Allison Weiland, Megan Hoffman, Aaron Manthey, Alison Jarrett, and Johnny Friedow. All other members of the cast were awarded an ensemble award. With every member of the cast and crew recognized, the one-act members couldn't have done better.

Let The Games Begin...

Contestants Johnny Friedow and Megan Hoffman anxiously wait to begin their journey while hosts Aaron Manthey and Alison Jarrett explain the rules. Meanwhile, stage manager Allison Weiland keeps everything under control.

In past traditions, FBLA has hosted the annual Winter Formal Dance. But this year due to scheduling conflicts, the dance was rescheduled to the fall and renamed. The new "Fall Fantasy" was hard to adjust to. Many were apprehensive about the hay bales that would be in the background, but hay bales, cornstalks, leaves and all, Fall Fantasy was a success.

This year the FBLAers strayed away from the old candy selling business for FBLA week. Instead they asked trivia questions about FBLA and PBL and gave away candy for prizes. Fund-raising was still accomplished from sales from the candy machine.

Again this year we had a state place finisher. Adam Breuer placed third in the Accounting II test at State Spring Conference in Sioux Falls. Adam is on his way to Nationals in Dallas, Texas. Way to go Adam!!

Another Great Year For Future Farmers

The FFAers had another successful year! Starting in September, the land judging team was very productive. The team placed 12th with Zach Hatting and Laura Sunde placing 29th individually. In October, 6 members went to Louisville, KY for the National FFA Convention this year. Those attending were: Zach Hatting, Andy Lindsay, Laura Sunde, David Wiese, Andrea Wettlaufer, and Greg Wettlaufer. The District Fall Career Development Contest was held in Brookings while three members attended. Chelsi Johnson placed 4th in the Creed Speaking and Erik Janke placed 2nd. Laura Sunde got 2nd place in the Public Speaking Competition.

Once again we had our annual fruit sale. It was very successful and we raised a lot of money. Jenny Paul was the top seller. She sold over $3,000 alone!! Laura Sunde received a $250 scholarship to attend the Washington Leadership Conference help in Washington D.C. The State Convention was also very rewarding. Greg Jung and Matt Phelps received a bronze award on the Ag Mechanics team. Brian Tweet received a bronze on the Natural Resources team, and Kevin Johannsen also received a bronze award for Swine Showmanship. Jenny Johnke place 2nd in Swine Showmanship. At the annual spring banquet, Brian and Darren Hefty, hosts of the TV show Ag PhD, were the guest speakers. All in all, it was a great year for FFA!

FCCLA Makin' It Big

FCCLA kicked off another great year with their installation ceremony. After that, they attended the District III Rally in Baltic where they gathered ideas for various activities. Some of those activities included making decorations for the elderly, quilting for underprivileged children, and serving the Brakhah House, an AIDS home in Sioux Falls.

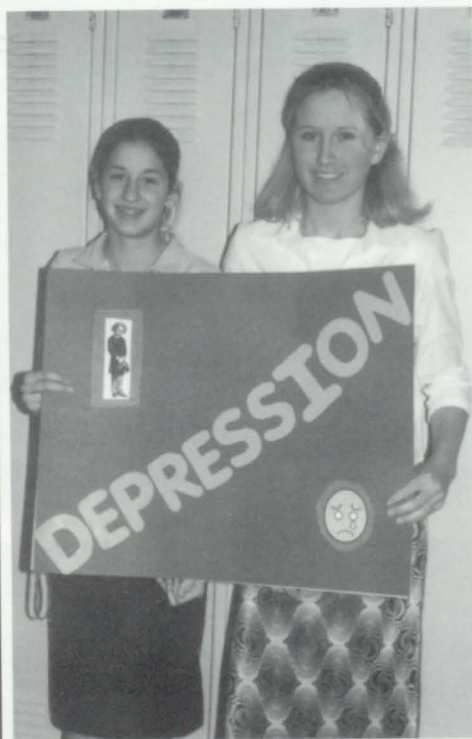

Many members attended the National Cluster Meeting in Colorado Springs, Colorado. Districts were held right here in Madison High School. Clarice Bauer ran for the District III Chairperson and received District III Secretary.

At the State Meeting in April, Amber Jepsen and Elizabeth Miller received a Top Superior Illustrated Talk. Receiving Superior Illustrated Talks were: Kristin Miller and Ashley Lund, Keleah Goldammer, and Laura Smith. Jody Wilkens and Keri Macziewski were awarded silver for their Chapter Showcase. Overall FCCLA has had a very productive year.

Do you think the U.S. should have gone to war with Iraq?

"Yes, because it was bound to happen sometime and it's better to get it over with sooner than later."

Amber Jepsen,
Senior

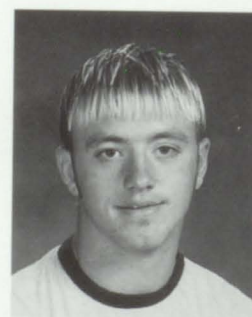

"Yes and no. I don't know what we would have done otherwise to get rid of Saddam Hussein, but I'd rather we weren't at war."

Sarah Rahn, Junior

"I think we made the right decision to go to war with Iraq because we got rid of Saddam."

Stuart Elliott,
Sophomore

"I don't know. I think it's a mess."

Marching Off to War

School year filled with nationwide war anxieties

T-shirts Tell All

Protestors Luke Gary and Maxon Keating sport anti-war apparel to demonstrate their views.

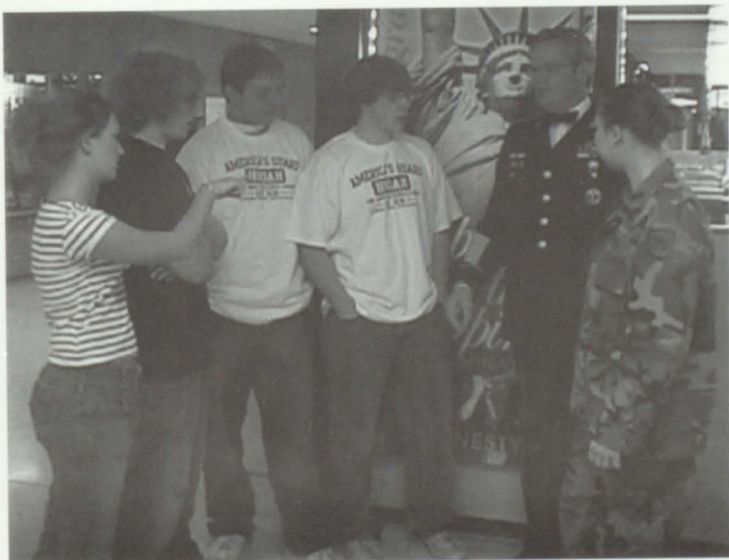

Starting early in the school year, the threat of war gloomed over America. President Bush continually told Saddam Hussein to disarm his chemical weapons. Saddam denied possession of any such weapons, and the U.S. prepared for war.

In mid-March, Saddam was given one final chance to go into exile with his sons or face military aggression in two days. The clock ticked down, with Saddam still in Iraq.

Soon after the deadline had past, America watched bombs being dropped on Iraq. The "Shock and Awe" phase began, with a heavy use of artillery. This phase of the war truly was shocking, with bombs erupting violently and the smoke mushrooming high into the air. Students were able to watch live coverage of these explosions during their lunch hour.

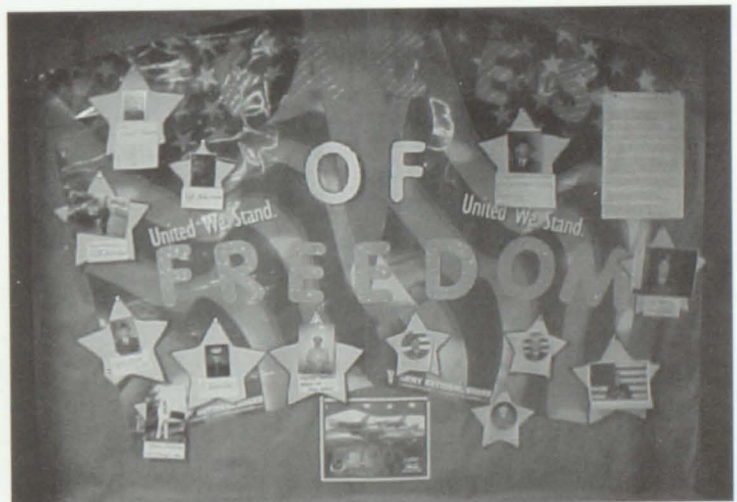

American troops were met with cheers when entering Iraqi towns, but at times also gunfire. By mid-April, Coalition forces had secured most of Iraq and the war was coming to an end.

The war was a topic of conversation in many classrooms, and students had divided opinions of what should be happening. Many had pride in America and supported the U.S. troops who were fighting for our daily freedoms.

Checking Out the Uniform

Military members Kelsey Ahrendt, Drew Jones, Justin Bauer, Matt Howard, Dave Zerfas and Cassandra Kotten talk official matters and admire Dave's spiffy bowtie.

Faces of Honor

The "Faces of Freedom" bulletin board was put up to honor relatives in the service and pictured 14 military personnel.

SPORTS

We Are the Champions

Individual winners Katie Breuer, Amanda Harmon, and Brittany Postma pose with their medals at state gymnastics.

Wait...

Waiting for the perfect moment, Chelsy Mortinsen goes for another ace serve.

What Do I Have To Do?

Trying to wear out his opponent, Phillip Downs wonders just what he has to do to get this guy to give up.

It's Going In

Executing the perfect shot, Robbie Cundy makes two for the Bulldogs.

SCORCHING the OPPONENTS

Roll Him Over...

Cheering encouragement to their matman are wrestling cheerleaders Elizabeth Foster, Katie Terwilliger, Samantha Hopf, Lisa Stien, and Ashley Koehne.

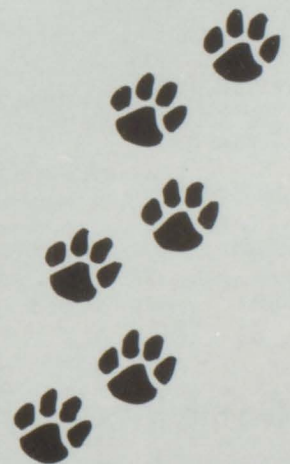

Get Off Me!

Trying to get the ball, Kristen Schaefer wishes the opponent would leave her alone.

We ARE the Team

Mrs. Farrell calls the shots while Tiffany Draper, Kimber Lambert, Chelsy Mortensen, Natalie Muellenberg, Katie Brown, Lisa Rogers, and Christine Amert get ready to execute them.

Our Fearless Leaders

Head coach, Chris Shaffer, who was newly appointed to the position this year, and assistant coaches Peggy Hansen and Bob Cordts lead the cross country team to a Combined State Championship. The girl's placed 4th as a team and the boy's placed 5th.

In his letter to the athletes, Coach Shaffer said "As a new coach to the program, I was unsure what the upcoming season would bring. In the end it was a fun ride of unexpected accomplishments and heart wrenching disappointments, but the true joy, as the saying goes, was in the journey itself. I hope this past season was enjoyable for each of you as it was for me."

Just a Stroll in the Park?

Cross country running is more than just a stroll in the park. Jeremy Bahmuller shows his guts and determination at the end of the race.

Jogging Jessica

Team captain keeps up the pace. She earned the Coach's Award as well as a varsity letter.

Catch Me If You Can

Brooke Postma is running hard to try to catch up with her teammate Brooke Postma. Both girls performed very well and helped the team earn many victories throughout the season.

A Change of Pace

The cross country team also practiced with biking and other exercises. Brittany Postma and Breinn Sullivan race through the streets of Madison during the triathlon.

Gone Swimming

Keeping in shape takes more than just running and biking. Brittany Postma exits the pool at the community center during the annual cross country triathlon.

The Race

It seems as if Justin Jaspers, Bobby Langner and Danny Meyer just love to race. These guys are trying to uphold that old saying "If it hurts, make it hurt more."

HIGH EXPECTATIONS

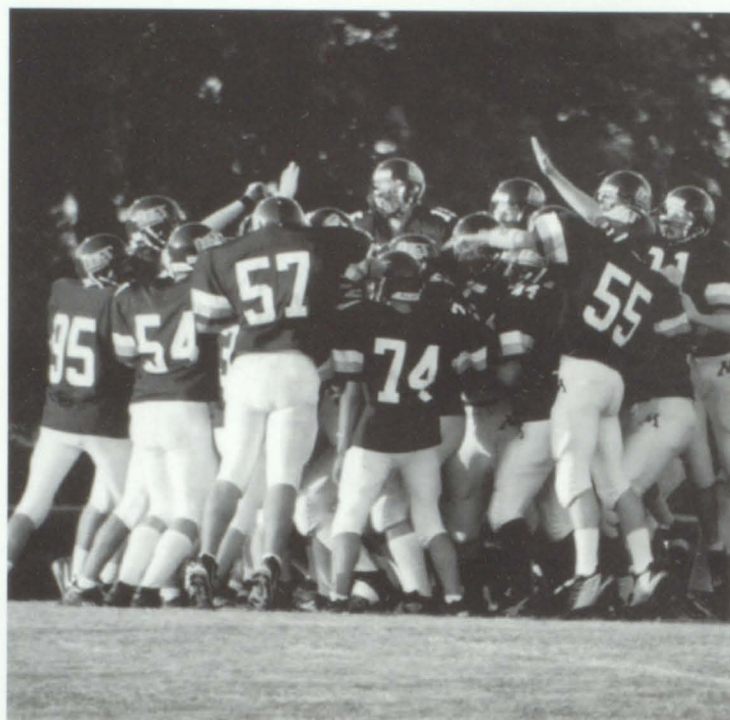

The Dogs UNLEASHED!

Starting the season early, the Dogs looked to be a promising prospect. All around it looked like a great team. The practices were grueling, but that doesn't mean they didn't have fun. The season started out great with a win over Sisseton. However, the season opening win was followed by a five game losing streak. The Dogs rebounded back to finish the season with two decisive wins. Guiding the Dogs were head coach Tom Milne and assistant coaches Tom Osterberg, Darren Swenson, Mike Lynch, Al Bierschbach and Paul Wilson.

Rack'em Up Dogs

The Bulldogs even get excited in the pregame huddle.

Oh, Coach Can You See?

Coaches, staff and players all pay tribute to the United States during the National Anthem.

BIG Joe!

As he pushes his foe backward, Joe Fischer shows why he has earned the name of "BIG Joe."

Leader Of The Pack

The Bulldog sideline always backs up Coach Milne as he plans his next strategic play.

The Volleyball Team Met In The Fall Instead Of The Winter

WANNA PEPPER?

Despite the season switch, the girls volleyball team worked hard and they had a successful season. Coach Farrell commented that the season change "worked well and it was fun working with the girls at the beginning of the year." The girls were very eager to play and had great attitudes throughout the season. The team worked well as a group and showed excellent teamwork. The season was exciting for everyone who came to witness the action.

Where Winning Has Become a Tradition!

What does it take to be a wrestler: hard work, determination, and a small appetite. The boys of the mat had a successful season. Although their team was young, Jason Hodne believes that as a senior he was able to pass valuable knowledge down to the young men that would enable them to excel even more next year.

Our boys worked hard through their injuries and fought as hard as they could. They went to Regions scored 100 points, and placed 8 individual wrestlers. They were successful at the state tournament and placed 13th. They also had six young men place in the state meet and will have their names painted on the wrestling room wall.

Ninth State Title

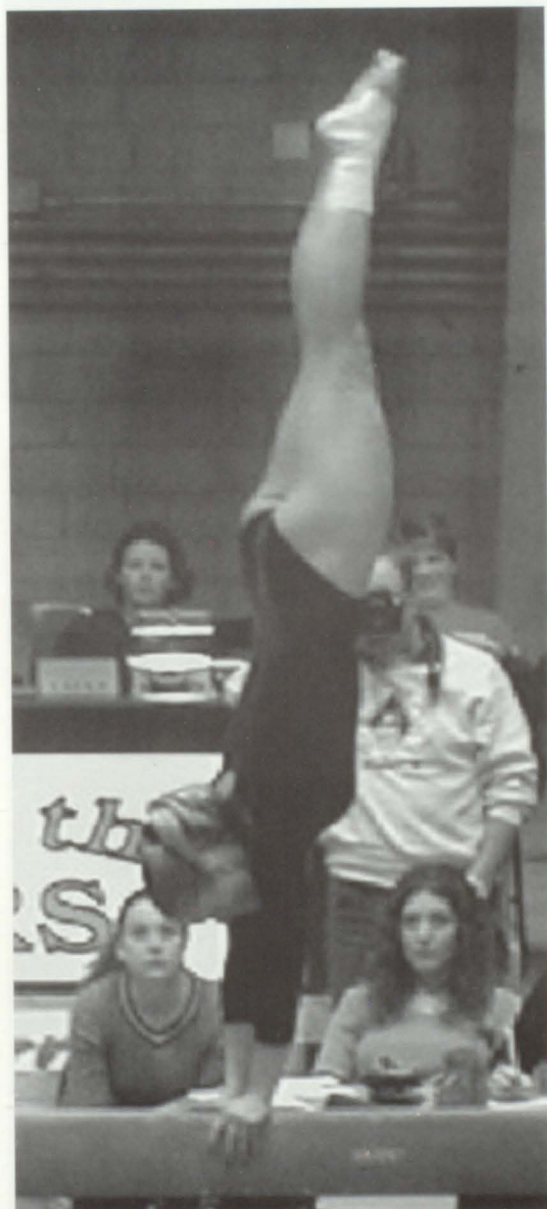

Waiting For the Results...

"Nine and Fine" Carrying On the Tradition

"Carrying on the Tradition" was the year's theme for our ladies of the MHS gymnastics team, who brought home their ninth consecutive state championship. "The girls did a wonderful job and represented MHS very well," says head coach Maridee Wiese, "I couldn't be any more proud of them!" The girls also shined in their individual events at the state meet bringing home two individual state champions, Katie Breuer and Amanda Harmon. The pressure of winning never gets to the girls, and every year they come back to win it again. You Go Girls!!!

Filling Some Big Shoes

MHS Welcomes Miss Harding

"I enjoy teaching here very very much, and I think the students are great."

When Mrs. Frederick decided to go her own way last year, we had no idea who would replace her. Miss Harding has done a good job of taking over her place. Fresh out of Northern State University, Miss Harding said "I enjoy teaching here very very much, and the students are great." Miss Harding is a talented artist, her favorite mediums to work with are photography and painting. The students that take her classes enjoy her knowledge of art. As we concluded our interview, we thanked her as she ran off to help a student in need. It looks like Miss Harding is filling Mrs. Frederick's shoes very well.

Practice Makes Perfect!

Traci Gabrielson practices her French speaking with Mrs. Ellsbury before she presents to the entire class.

Handy-Dandy Dictionary!

Amy Berglund holds up her lifeline in French III.

Bonjour!

French III Is the Place to Be!

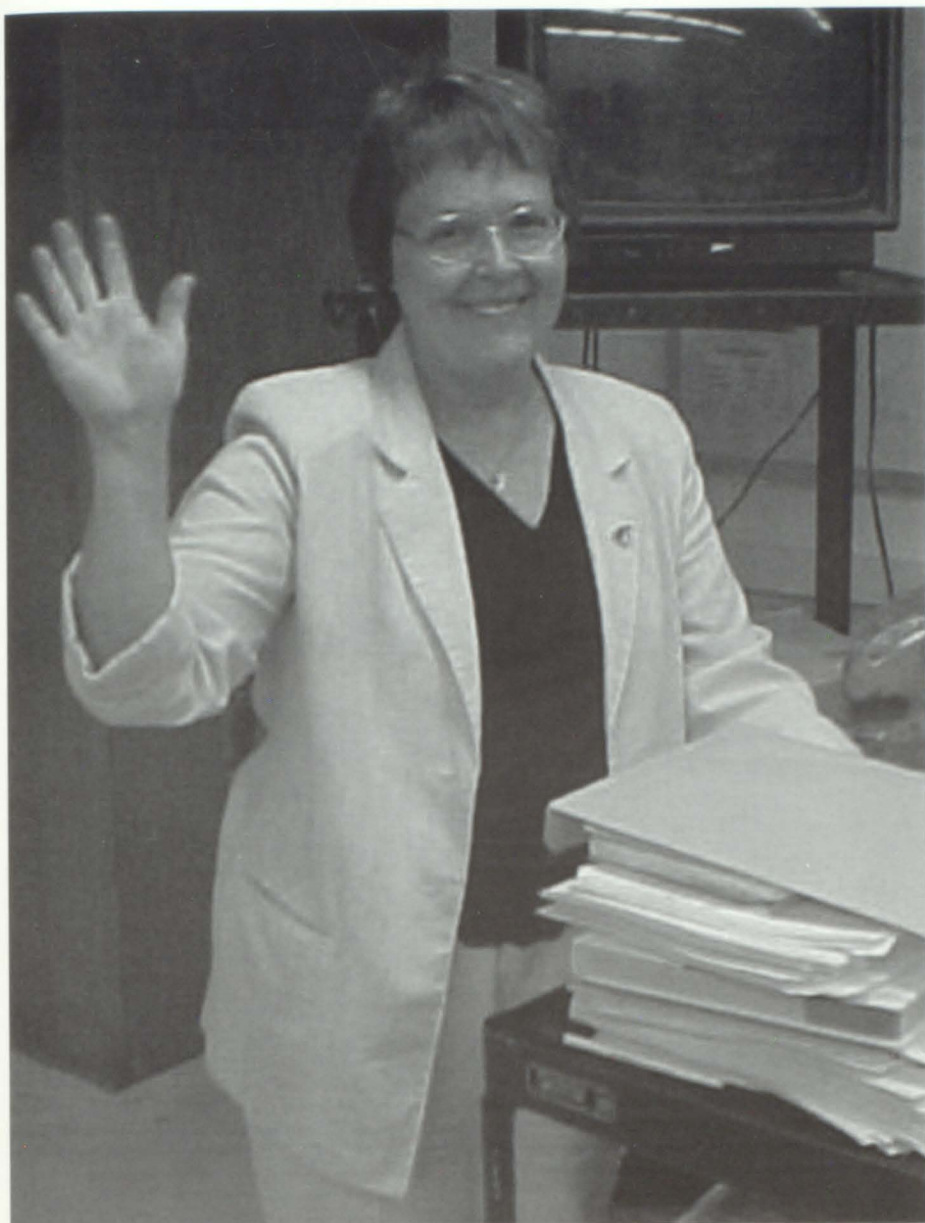

For the select few who have survived the first two years of French, French III is a pleasant change of pace. Your former knowledge is applied to well-known stories from all over the world. It is more of a personal setting with more one-on-one learning, giving students good guidance to apply their knowledge.

Nicole Johnson gives her thoughts on French III: "It's great having a small class 'cause then you get one-on-one learning experience with Mrs. Ellsbury."

French III is definitely an interesting and educational experience for those that take time to learn the basics. "I'm glad I took French III because it was a cultural experience for me to learn how the French tell their stories. They describe things vividly and with much imagination. It was also easier to learn in French III because the class was so small, and I had already learned the basics in my previous French classes," commented Amy Berglund.

Mrs. Ellsbury enjoys French III because she has more interaction with her students. She can also share her life experiences and favorite stories with her students. The setting for French III is more personal, and she believes it is more fulfilling for the students.

For those who dare to take French III in the future, you will be in for quite a journey.

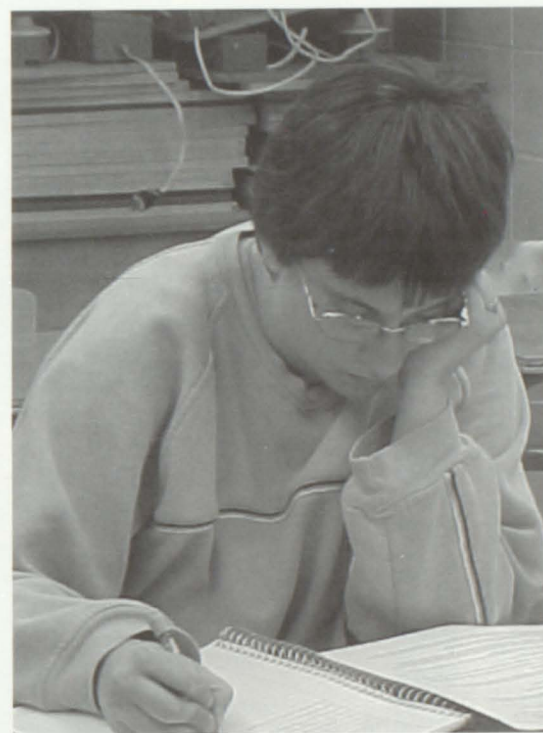

Bonjour La Classe!

Mrs. Ellsbury greets the class daily with a friendly wave and a smile.

Independent Living

Preparing for the 'Real World'

Independent Living is one of the many classes offered by Mrs. Goldammer. The students in the class learn how to live on their own and be independent. They do a comprehensive unit on AIDS which teaches them how to make good decisions, practice safety so that AIDS won't be spread, and educate others through posters that are displayed in the hallways of MHS. Another important unit was money management. It teaches students the basics of buying a car and house, managing money, setting a budget, along with credit cards and insurance basics. Rental agreements and leases are also covered for those of us who will rent a house/apartment someday.

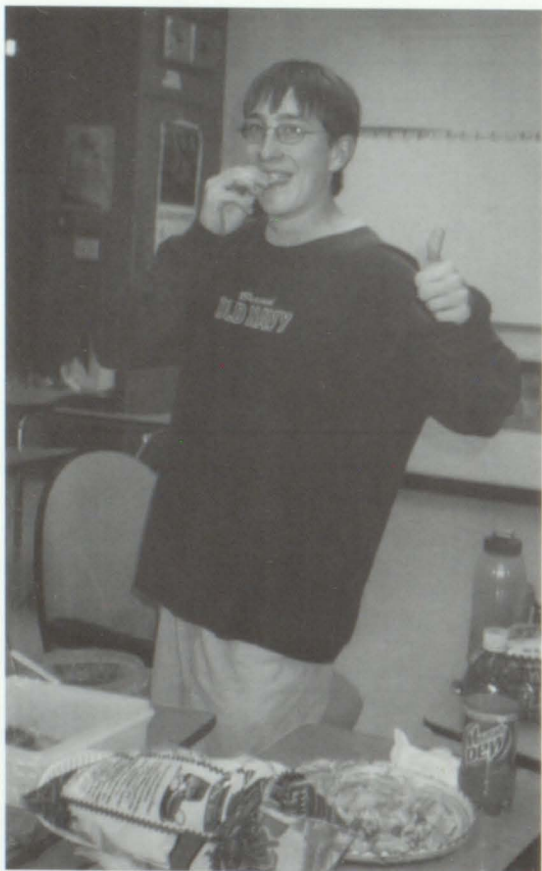

Independent Living also teaches you how to deal with abuse, being a parent, and resisting peer pressure. Towards the end of the trimester, students learned how to clean and remove stains successfully. Also, the nutrition unit is one of the student's favorites. You make omelets, monkey bread, orange julius, casserole, and stuffed potatoes. If you are planning on living out on your own someday, this class would be a great one to participate in so you know what to do and are not lost.

Spanish Is More Than Just a Language

Some people call Spanish the language of the Gods...others describe it as a tantalizing maze of words and sounds that mesmerizes even the brainiest of wizards...who would dare to attempt to conquer this all-powerful force? Seven of the seniors have risked it all to do just that.

AP Spanish, previously known as Spanish IV, doesn't just tackle conjugations and verb tenses however. No, there is much more to it than that. Just this spring, Mrs. Lynch hauled the class to Brookings for the Festival of Cultures. In addition to browsing the tables and speaking with people of foreign descent, students also dined at Guadalajara's, ordering their food in Spanish.

Eating seems to be key to this class, as food days abounded throughout the year. Even though some exotic ingredients had to be omitted from a few recipes, the feasts were fit to feed royalty. "¡Gracias a español, me engordo veinte libras en uno mes!" Bethany Friedow said.

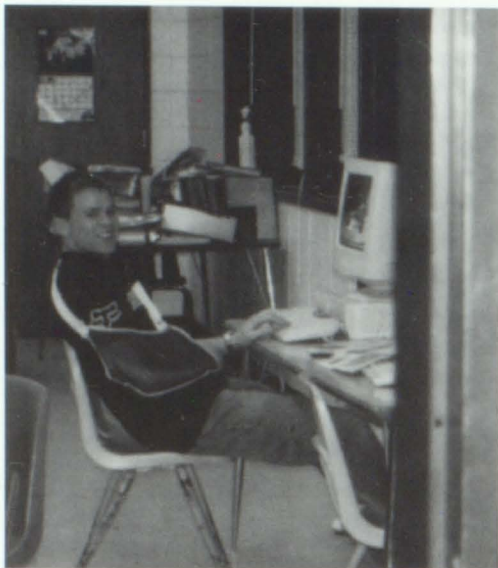

To finish off the year, each student chose a Spanish painting to reproduce on the wall in Mrs. Lynch's room. With an array of colors and designs, students found themselves lost in a world of alluring pictures that add life to the classroom each year. And of course, they still made time for their daily exercises.

So the next time you find yourself meandering through life, pondering the wonders of Spanish, just step inside the AP Spanish classroom for a moment and catch a glimpse of the electrifying events that take place for 72 minutes a day.

Scared Or Happy, Or Both

Two emotions on two faces. Liz Miller looks a little scared and Marlee Moe looks quite happy.

Words of Wisdom

Speaker Josh Uecker imparts words of wisdom to his fellow classmates and the audience.

Setting Out On A New Voyage

We cannot discover new oceans unless we have the courage to lose sight of shore.

Graduation

The Class of 2003 attended their commencement ceremonies Sunday, May 25, 2003 at 2 PM at the Dakota State Fieldhouse. Of the 108 students that were presented with diplomas, 16 graduated Summa Cum Laude; 7, Magna Cum Laude; and 6, Cum Laude. Speakers were Megan Hoffman and Josh Uecker. Mr. Craig Peterson was Masters of Ceremonies and Mr. Steve Grond presented the senior class. Of the 108 graduates, 84 are planning on continuing their education at a two or four institution.

Colophon

The 2003 yearbook was produced by a staff of 12 and one adviser using Windows XP and PageMaker 7.0. The books were printed by the Leader Printing Company and the press run was 300 books of 114 pages each. Books were sold for $25, $35 and $45. Amanda Reynolds and Kellie Stout were co-editors. Kristie Olson was the adviser. Special thanks to Dan Holsworth of the Madison Daily Leader, Jill Johnson, Jean Bergan, and Jerri McNary for sharing their photos and all others who helped with the production.

Freshmen Volleyball

SOME LIKE

IT HOT

Even though we complained about the warmth of the school building, we all really know that the Bulldogs like things HOT.

With our Burning Desires, we lived Student Life as hot as possible. We know that We Didn't Start the Fire with our Organizations, but we did like to put a little heat in our extra curriculars. Bulldogs were always Scorching the Opponents with their Sport's teams. Academics made us know that The Heat Is On, but we were successful anyway. And finally, we will always remember that the People at MHS were Hot Tamales.

Madison Bulldogs Like It Hot!

Beware Of the Dogs

Wherever the Bulldog is, things will heat up. Jenna Lucas tries to heat things up at a cold homecoming parade.

Heat, Hugs and Hope

Sweaty hugs are given when you are headed to a state tournament. Natalie Muellenberg receives a hug from Coach Unterbrunner and joining in the celebration are Angie McGillvray, Lindsey Higgins, Jenna Nielsen, Katie Satter, Kristen Schaefer and Coach Shaffer.

Beating the Heat

Trying to keep things cool at freshmen orientation, Mr. Honomichl gets a large supply of juice ready.

The End?

Never knowing what will happen next in Mr. Peterson's office, students could sit and wonder about the leg in the ceiling and the significance of it.
