Inevitable Change

Changes are happening everywhere we look. We are finding out who our true friends are and deciding what to be involved in and what to put on hold. It's amazing how much we all grow throughout high school and are altered by the situations we are faced with.

Change is inevitable. What really matters is who we change into and how we handle new situations. We seniors are being faced with the tough decisions right now of where we want to go with our life and trying to make the choice of which college is best suited for us. During this time of choices it's hard to know who we are. By surrounding ourselves with the right people to help us make the right decisions, we are preparing ourselves for the person we will one day be. As activities end, we can look back and see how much we've grown throughout our years together.

Change is good but sometimes it's hard to deal with. Kurt Cobain once said, "I'd rather be hated for who I am than loved for who I'm not." Remember these words and change for the better. Most importantly, be yourself..

Change

Change the poem, change the line,
Change the meaning, change the rhyme,
Change the outcome, change the plan,
Change the mood, change the man.

Change your looks, change your smile,
Change your going, stay awhile,
Change your past, change your time,
Change your future, stay be mine.

Bulldog Spirit

The students at MHS celebrated another Homecoming. The week was full of activities that reminded students their childhood.

The theme was PBS. The dress-up days surrounded the many shows that students watched growing up. On Monday the halls were filled with characters from Sesame Street. Tuesday brought hillbillies dressed in red and green for Red Green Day. Wednesday was Reading Rainbow Day and students put on their 80s clothes. Ugly sweaters filled the halls on Thursday for Mr. Rogers Day. And of course, Friday was set aside for Bulldog Day.

Coronation was Thursday night. Many acts competed in the talent show competition. There were many music acts and even a Guitar Hero performance. Four O'Clock to Sundown, consisting of Anthony Brown, Kyle Marker, Josh Palmer, and Anthony Palo, took first place with an amazing performance. Breanne Manthey and Ben Bundy were crowned King and Queen at the end of the ceremony.

On Wednesday there was a door decorating contest among the Pride classes. After Coronation on Thursday night, students went out to the parking lot and participated in the Burning of the "M." In the auditorium on Friday there was a pep rally to get everyone ready for the game.

Friday night concluded homecoming week with the football game. Parents, students, alumni, and members of the community, cheered on the Bulldogs to a victory against the Canton C-Hawks!

A group of MHS students have taken it upon themselves to help others in the community be safer drivers. This group refers to themselves as the "Buckle-Up Bulldogs." At the beginning of the school year, this Buckle-Up Bulldog committee staged a mock accident to the juniors and seniors of MHS. Emily Olson was a fatal victim in a staged two-car accident involving six students. Committee members portrayed students in the accident that was caused by one of the drivers texting while driving and no one wearing seat belts. Arrested for reckless driving was Ashley Pifer. The scene was made more believable with the involvement of the local Search & Rescue group, the Madison Ambulance EMTs, local police officers and some South Dakota Highway Patrolmen. Following the mock accident, the officers and rescue personnel spoke to the students about their jobs and the real accident scenes they have encountered.

At the end of the school year, the Buckle-Up Bulldog committee held an awareness event at the high school. The members handed out stickers and other prizes to individuals wearing their seat belts and wrote tickets to those not wearing seat belts. The penalty for not wearing a seat belt was to bring a non-perishable food item for the local food pantry.

Mock Arrest

Ashely Pifer is arrested by Officer Wollmann for reckless driving during the Buckle-Up Bulldogs mock accident.

Christmas In Spanish

Spanish class members, Chase Christiansen, Scott Walther, Emily Caron, Liz Bowers, Megan Bordewyk, Nikki Seitz, Alisha McKibben, Josh Vosberg and Mrs. Lynch, share some Christmas carols in Spanish the last day before Christmas vacation.

We Are Going To Do What?

Jordan Matula can't believe she is touching a shark and Abby Bryd is just going to let her.

Academics

We Can Learn Anywhere

Samantha Thompson and Megan Bordewyk use the hallway to conduct some scientific experiments.

Shoebox Speeches

In Mrs. Benning class, Makayla Boer shares her love of softball when telling the class about herself.

It's All In The Stacking

Jim Lebahn, Jordan Lemme, Josh Palmer and Brad Stearns try to find the best and safest way to stack the weights on the poor little white box.

A Little Help

Elly Shoemaker, Derrick Wiebe, Dylan Beck and Zach Hansen give each other advice on how to dissect the shark.

What Is That?

Liz Bowers and Alisha McKibben point out important elements of the shark.

Zoology

Learning To Dissect

In Zoology, Mrs. Unterbrunner showed us many different types of animal species and how each is different. Zoology taught us how animals relate and interact with each other.

Zoology has always been a pretty popular job for many people when looking for a career. The career sounds exciting to many people who took the class and who knows, maybe, will we have some future zoologists because of this class.

Before getting our hands dirty from all of the dissecting, we had to learn many things. We spent time reading about the different animal classes and gaining information about them. After we went through the chapter, it was time to dissect the animal. It's a lot different looking at a picture of animal then having it in front of you to dissect.

Some of the animals we dissected were: Worms, Crayfishes, Frogs, Fish, Sharks, and a Fetal Pig.

Zoology was an amazing experience for all of us. Some of us realized that we really enjoyed dissecting animals and others realized that zoology wasn't for them. Either way I really think everyone enjoyed the class and learned a lot of new things.

Move It a Little This Way

Samantha Thompson and Kelsey Warns turn their shark around to get a better look.

Are We Doing This Right?

Jorgen Vosberg, David Langner, Tyler Brunsvig and Justin Zillgitt check out each others fish dissections.

Future Zoologists in the Making

Nate Christiansen and Justin Williams get right to work on dissecting their shark.

Look What We Got!

Kara Peters and Brooke Johnson show off the fish they are getting ready to dissect.

What did you like best about Zoology?

"I liked the dissecting the best"

--Kara Peters

"The dissecting and learning about different animals"

So Far, So Good!

Alex Kotten and Anthony Palo take their hands off the weights, waiting to see if their box can hold up.

Careful, Careful

Dale Frewaldt and Trevor Johnson (above) with the help of Mr. Hodgen, stack weights on their carefully constructed box. Anthony Palo and Kyle Marker stand back wondering how much it will hold. As the box collapses, (below) Dale and Trevor try to stop the weights from sliding off the table. In the background, Nick Jarrett finds it quite amusing.

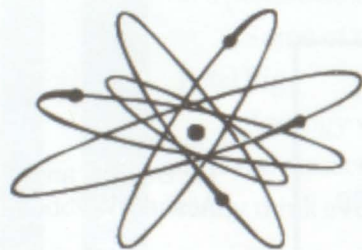

This Is Heavy

With the help of Mr. Hodgen, Sean DeVaney and Jackie Staudenbaur try to carefully set the weight down on their box.

We're Doing Good

Jim Lebahn and Jordan Lemme keep adding the weights on top of their box hoping it will stand up.

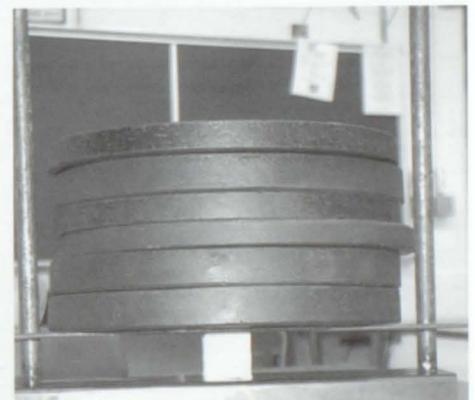

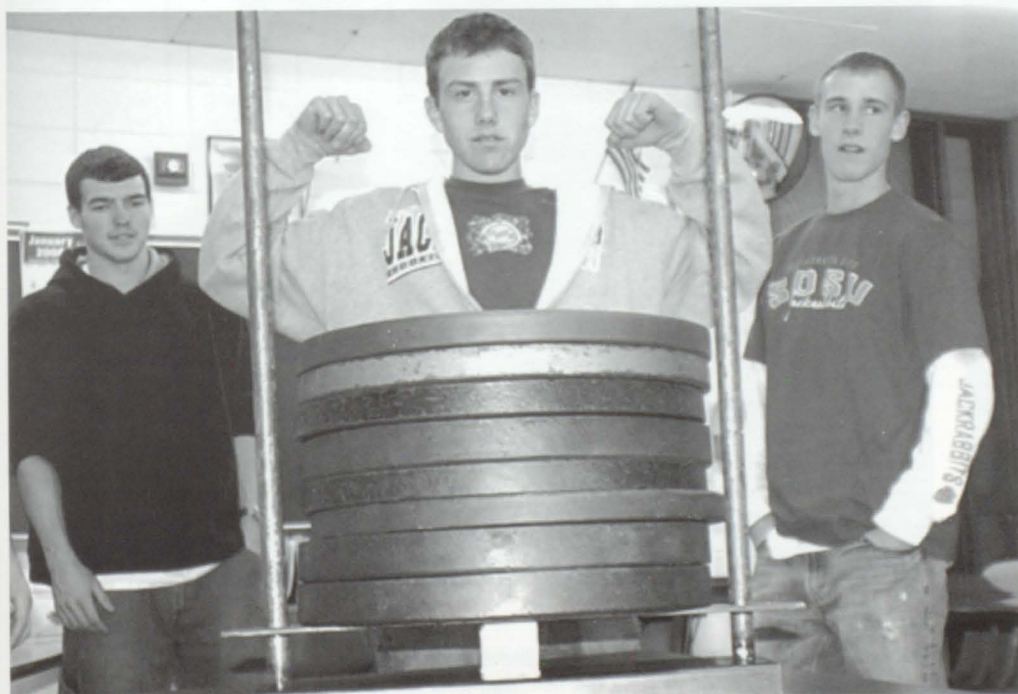

Physics

Weight-Bearing Boxes

Let's Get the Weights On

Carefully stacking on the weights, Jim Lebahn, Jordan Lemme, Josh Palmer and Brad Stearns test the strength of the little white box.

And The Winner Is . . .

Brad Stearns stands victorious over his box. Above, Brad's box witheld the most weight in the Physics competition.

Physical Science

Egg Drop

Midair Drop

Falling from atop the football stadium, the carefully boxed egg gently falls through the air.

It's High Up Here

Having climbed up all the stairs at the football stadium, Beth Henry, Aundrea Vanzandt, Christina Hammer and Angel Hanssen get ready to drop their eggs.

What A Mess

Caleb Palmer and Taylor Gusso react to the landing of a poorly packed egg.

Look Up There!

David Bergeron, Andrew Hunter, Nathan Dreeszen, Cody Cudmore, Taylor Gusso and Derek Mogck watch with anticipation as the next egg gets ready to fall.

Whose Winning?

Mr. Hodgen shares the findings with Eshita Trivedi while Shelby Hanson, Taylor Welling, Chris Shafer, Claire LaFleur and ? wait for the next drop.

Here It Comes!

? gets ready to drop this egg wrapped neatly in plastic and in a cardboard box.

Is Everyone Ready?

Mr. Hodgen makes sure that Beth Henry and Aundrea Vanzandt are prepared before they drop their egg.

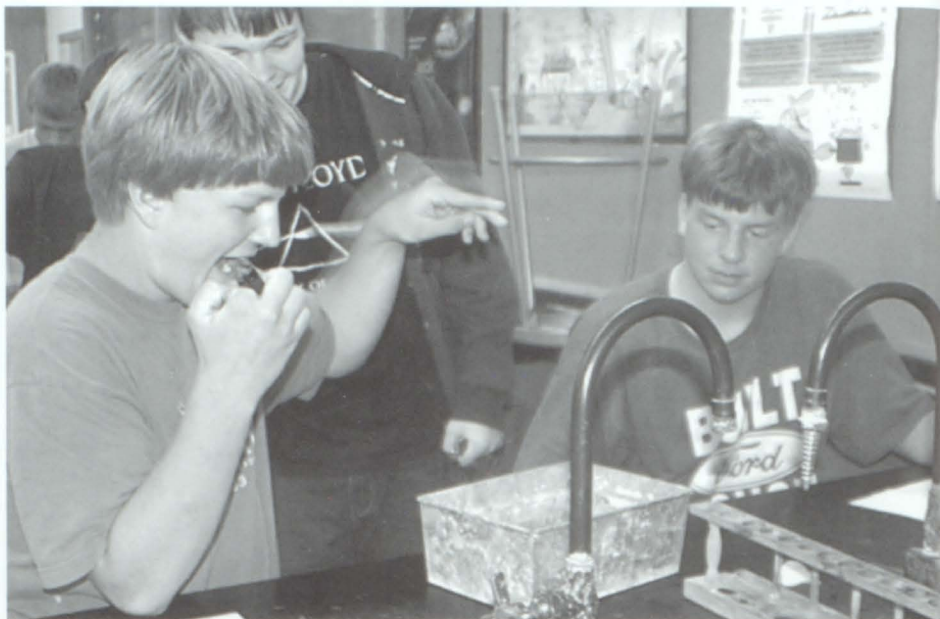

Keeping the Stats

Mr. Hodgen carefully keeps track of every attempt at the egg drop.

Yikes . . . It's Burning

Aaron Olson gets excited about burning potato chips in biology to find out the fat content while Chris Dreyer and Tyler Brunsvig seem pretty calm.

Will This Work?

Carlye Williams tries another experient in Biology, using a paperclip, tin foil and matches.

Are You Sure?

Abby Byrd doesn't look too sure but Elly Shoemaker and Jessica DeBlizan are ready to complete the potato chip experiment.

Don't Play With Fire

Sam Wilkens gets a little worried with how Jorgen Vosberg is treating a lit match.

He Can Do It

Zane Mathis has all the confidence in the world that Tyler Ebsen can handle the lighter for their Biology experiment.

Biology

Excellent Experiments

Make Sure To Record It

Keeping track of their results, Rebecca Sunde, Christiana Barney and Liz Bowers write down answers to all the experiment questions.

Blowing Bubbles

Working on another exciting experiment for Ms. Wiebers, Justin Goth makes his bubble bigger.

That's A Big Flame!

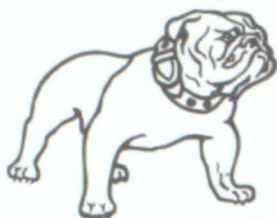

Emily Caron gets her potato chip flaming while Jenny Meyer watches. Shouldn't you be paying attention, Emily.

This Isn't So Easy

Brittany Williams concentrates on carefully blowing her bubble to the max.

Isn't Technology Wonderful!

Mrs. Knowlton and Mr. Honomichi try to get the projector up and running during a school assembly.

Be Careful With The Knife

Does Duane Sorenson know what Alaina Kringen is doing with the knife? We don't think so.

Change Your Mind

Be the change you want to see in the world.

--Mahatma Gandhi

There Is No Hiding

Mr. Peterson tries to hide behind his paper while Mrs. Larson is more than willing to be found.

Why So Sad?

Ashley Pifer looks sad on her last day of high school while Jenny Fods, Ashley Hammer and Randi Hackett are chatting it up.

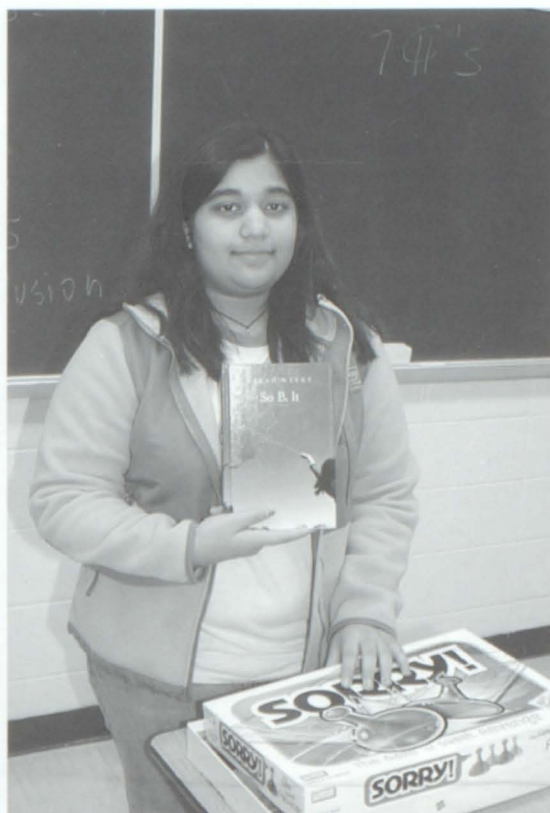

All About Me

Eshita Trivedi shares with Mrs. Benning's class a little bit about herself.

We Are So Happy To Be In School

Randi Hackett and Jessica Olinger show their happiness at being able to attend a high school assembly.

Just My Arms Are Cold

Kelsey Klosterman wears her sweatshirt the most unusual way.

Fresh Air and Sunshine

Enjoying an outside Physical Science lesson, Andrew Hunter, David Bergeron, Derek Mogck and Chris Shafer wait for their turn to drop some eggs.

Shoebox Speech

Caleb Palmer explains in his "Shoebox Speech" what he likes to do.

Here Is What We Need To Do

Mr. Osterberg relates to his freshmen pride class, Jordan Finck, Shelby Hanson, Shannon Spurgin and Michael Knofcznski, what they need to do during freshmen orientation.

We Just Borrowed Them!

Hannah Downs and Kaitlin Haug return art supplies to the art room.

Sports and Hunting

Sports and hunting are some of the things Ryan Lovro likes to do.

The Top Of The Class

Congratulations

David Kessler receives his diploma from School Board President, Mark Hawkes while Mr. Schaefer and Mrs. Knowlton look on with pride.

The Class of 2008 attended their commencement ceremonies Sunday, May 18, 2008, at 2 PM at the Dakota State University Fieldhouse. Of the 92 students that were presented with diplomas, 12 graduated Summa Cum Laude; 5, Magna Cum Laude; and 4, Cum Laude. Speakers were Michael Lee and Alicia Caron. Mr. Vince Schaefer introduced the speakers and Mrs. Sharon Knowlton presented the senior class. The band played "Clouds That Sail in Heaven" by Todd Stalter and the choir sang "Worthy to Be Praised" by Byron J. Smith. A senior group of singers sang "I'm Not Gonna Cry" by Corey Smith.

My Fellow Classmates

Mike Lee speaks to his fellow classmates and the audience about the good times of the past and what the future may hold.

"Transitions"

Speaking to her fellow graduates, Alicia Caron points out the changes in store for them.

Colophon

The 2008 yearbook was produced by a staff of seven students and one advisor using Windows XP and PageMaker 7.0. The books were printed by the Leader Printing Company and the press run was 200 books of 116 pages each. Books were sold for $50, $55, and $60. Allyson Slaughter was the editor. Kristie Olson was the advisor. Special thanks to Jill Johnson for sharing her photos and all others who helped with the production.

Welcome Change

Not Everything Needs To Change

Having fun on the last day of school, Megan Wettlaufer, Brooke Johnson, Tiffany Johns and Kayla Wiese, go back to the old way of playing games.

Some Things Never Change

Pete Nelson makes a reappearance at the Boy's State Basketball Tournament and gives Mrs. Knowlton a lift.

Change is inevitable, growth is intentional
